HE PLEADS GUILTY; TAKES A LIFE TERM

William T. Walker, Who Strangled Wife and Buried Her in Back Yard Last September, Waives Trial.

SLAYER HAD MADE A FULL CONFESSION

William Thomas Walker entered a plea of guilty in the circuit court this afternoon to the charge of second degree murder and was sentenced to the prison at Michigan City for the remainder of his natural life.

The whole proceeding in court consumed less than a minute and the prisoner had nothing to say. He was called to the stand and Judge O'Rourke asked:

"You are William T. Walker?"

"Yes sir."

"You are charged with murder in the first degree and I understand you want to withdraw your plea of not guilty?"

"Yes sir."

"You want to enter a plea of guilty to second degree murder?"

"I do."

"You know what that means?"

"Yes, I know."

"Well then you will be confined in the Michigan City prison for the rest of your life."

Walker nodded his head.

"Have you anything to say why sentence should not be imposed upon you?"

"No sir, nothing."

Sentence was then pronounced and Walker sat down.

Shakes Hands With Detective.

Just before he entered his plea the prisoner shook hands with Detective Sergeant William F. Pappert, who arrested him and the latter whispered something to him to which Walker nodded an assent. The commitment papers were made out at once, and it is likely that he will be taker to Michigan City within the next day or two.

Prosecuting Attorney Harry H. Hilgemann with his two deputies, and Albert E. Thomas, represented the state and consented to accept the plea under the belief that it was the most logical thing to do.

Walker was represented by Attorney Phil B. Colerick, of this city, and David Whiteleather, of Columbia City, and they held a long consultation with their client before he was arraigned. J. Lewis Walker, the aged father of the prisoner, was present at the proceeding.

The second count of the indictment under which the plea was accepted, contained the accusation that he caused the death of his wife by choking her and without premeditation.

Walker's Crime.

The crime to which Walker entered a plea of guilty was the murder early on the morning of September 10, of last year, of his wife, Catherine Walker, whom he choked to death and afterward burried the body in the back yard of their residence, on Sherman street.

He continued to occupy the house until his arrest late on the afternoon of November 24, when Detective-Sergeant William F. Pappert picked him up and took him to police headquarters, where he and Chief Dayton F. Abbott secured a confession.

Next morning the badly decomposed body was dug from the rude grave in the back yard of the home where it had lain for more than a month and was buried the same day. In the meantime Walker had cultivated the garden and carefully concealed the evidence of a new grave by constantly leveling the soil as it became depressed.

Was Preparing to Leave.

At the time of his arrest he had just resigned with the Home Telephone company a position he had held as lineman for several years and when once he determined to tell of his crime he told glibly enough all of the horrible details.

He said she came home late and after a quarrel she seized a hatchet and attempted to brain him as he lay in bed. He knocked her down and then choked her to death.

He buried her clothing a short distance from their home, and the finding of the garments was his undoing. Detective Pappert took up this clue and followed it faithfully until he had secured a confession of guilt.

He was indicted by the last grand jury and there had been a feeling for some time that he would enter a plea of guilty and he had been in consultation since yesterday morning and eventually agreed that was the best course to pursue.

Attorneys for the state say they do not believe his story that his wife attempted to kill him with a hatchet and that the crime was committed in cold blood and was the outcome of jealousy. They insist that they had evidence enough to have secured the death penalty before a jury and this would probably have been asked had the case gone to trial next Monday morning, as was originally agreed upon.

SALOME FIGURE IN TAT- TOO BARRED FROM ARMY,

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 29.—When Oliver E. Newton, rural mail carrier and former solider, applied at the local recruiting station to reenlist in the army, he passed all examinations until Sergeant James Finney, in charge of the station, observed on the applicant's arm the tattooed figure of a Salome in nature's garb.

"You'll have to get some clothes for that woman before you can enlist; the army won't stand for tattooed nude figures," said the sergeant. So Newton went to a "tattoo artist" and had a decollette waist and a hobble skirt draped over the figure of Salome. Now the figure does not look like the pictured Salome, but Newton has a sore arm.

If he recovers from the second "operation" he will be allowed to join the army again.

CANNIBALISM IS PERSIAN HORROR

OPEN FIRE ON BOND ISSUE; DEMAND VOTE ON QUESTION

Opponents Assail Project in Mass Meeting and Declare for Clinton Street in Track Elevation.

Opponents of the proposed issue of $200,00 worth of bonds for the purchase of the river frontage as the initial step in city beautification trained their heaviest artillery upon the project in a mass meeting held Wednesday evening at the court house assembly room. The outcome was the adoption of resolutions which demanded that the question of the bond issue be submitted to a vote of the people, instead of being ordered by the city council under the powers granted it by the new park board law, and the further demand that no contract for track elevation be entered into with the Pennsylvania company which does not provide for the opening of Clinton street.

It was announced as an "indignation" meeting, and the audience which packed the assembly room to the doors was composed very largely of citizens who are unqualifiedly opposed to the bond issue without the sanction of the people at an election. In the audience were a number of advocates of the bond issue, including Col. D. N. Foster, chairman of the park board, who came to hear the discussions, but did not participate in them.

Lines of Opposition.

Some of the speakers declared themselves favorable to a reasonable undertaking in civic iprovement, others opposed improvement of the river banks until work which is declared of more

MILLION MINERS IN BRITAIN ON STRIKE

Attempts to Keep Peace Are Futile and Coal Industry of United Kingdom Will be at Standstill.

London, Feb. 29.—Upwards of three quarters of a million coal miners had laid down their tools and gone on strike by two o'clock this afternoon when the day shift in the mines ended. The army of striking coal miners swelled hourly throughout the morning when it became known that no settlement had been reached.

The premier and his colleagues in the cabinet officials of the board of trade and other persons having influence with the coal owners and miners devoted the morning to a final attempt to avert the disaster of a national coal strike in Great Britain.

There was, however, the faintest hope of success. In the meantime the miners throughout the country began to lay down their tools and quit work so that before night falls, unless some unexpected change comes over the situation, over a million men and boys now employed in the mines will be idle and tens of thousands in other trades will be forced into a similar condition.

Renew Peace Efforts.

The delegates of the miners were approached early this morning by Sir George Askwith with some of his colleagues on the board of trade and also several labor members of the house of Commons with a view of finding some way out of the crisis. At the same time the coal owners gathered again at the foreign office where they conferred with Premier Asquith and several members of the cabinet.

Both sides are now blaming each other for the failure of the negotiations. The miners say that the coal owners did not show a conciliatory attitude while the owners insist that the miners were determined to strike no matter what terms were offered. It is understood that the government has drafted a minimum wage bill with safeguards for the owners and is ready to rush it through parliament in case of necessity.

Meetings were held by the coal miners federation and the coal owners' association late in the morning but they apparently only resulted in a reiteration of the refusal of the participants to budge from their respective positions. Further meetings are announced for this afternoon but little is expected to result from them, and as a consequense the cabinet which met this morning completed arrangements to hurry legislation which may prove necessary in order to compel a resumption of work.

A number of meetings of railroad employes passed resolutions pledging themselves to abstrain from handling troop trains and coal produced by nonunionists.

Mr. Asquith is said to have given an assurance to the miners' delegates that means would be found to compel the minority of the coal owners to fall into line with the majority on the question of the concession of a minimum wage.

HOT WELLS COOL OFF.

Connersville, Ind., Feb. 29.—The four wells which, by turns, excited their owners and interested others by yielding hot water instead of cold, have subsided. A week ago F. M. Michener's well, the last one to turn hot, and the longest to remain so, began to lower in temperature. Its water is now normally cool. All the wells which grew hot are in the same square. The mystery of their performance remains unsolved, but is generally thought to have been due in some manner to electric currents.

SACCHARINE IS UNDER THE BAN

Substitute for Sugar is Held Violation of Pure Food Law.

TRIUMPH FOR WILEY

Washington, Feb. 29.—By a vote of two to one the board of cabinet officers charged with the enforcement of the pure food law today entered a final decision against the use of saccharine in prepared foods. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel confirmed the decision that food containing saccharine was adulterated. Secretary of the Treasury MeVeagh dissented. One month's grace will be given manufacturers to arrange for the elimination of saccharine.

Settles Old Controversy.

The decision settles a controversy of nearly four years' standing. Secretary of Agriculture, Wilson, by direction of former President Roosevelt having referred the question of use of saccharine in foods to the Remsen board of scientific experts, for their investigation and report.

After three years of experience this board reported that the addition of saccharine to food as a substitute for sugar "must be regarded as a substitution, involving a reduction in the food value of the sweetened product, and hence a reduction in its quality."

A decision then was made that the use of saccharine would be prohibited after July 1, 1911. On appeals from the manufacturers however, the time was extended.

Secretary of the Treasury, MacVeagh, signed the original decision prohibiting the use of saccharine, but further hearings which were held evidently convinced him that its use in very small quantities should be allowed, so that he dissented from the opinion rendered today.

Wiley Fought Against Use.

"The argument that it may be used in small quantities," said Dr. Wiley in a brief submitted to the secretaries, "is the old familiar one which adulterators and those who seek to adulterate have used from the very beginning of things. If we admit one injurious substance in small quantities, we cannot with any justice exclude any other. The argument of small quantities has absolutely no ethical, logical or legal foundation and is most dangerous. No more dangerous concession to the interests seeking to debase and adulterate and misbrand food products could be made. I urge the importance of refusing in any way to condone the use of saccharine in foods."

BIG PACKER HAS RESUMED STORY

Sulzburger Continues His Testimony in Trial at Chicago.

HURTS BEEF BARONS

Chicago, Feb. 29.—Attorney John S. Miller continued the cross examination of Ferdinand Sulzberger, president of the Sulzberger & Company, when the trial of the ten Chicago packers charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law was resumed today.

The witness declared the selling price of meat was determined by the law of supply and demand. He said the test cost and margin system used by the packers had no direct effect on the selling price and that the selling price of the same grade of beef often differed on the same day at different branches of the same company in the same city.

Attorney Miller attempted to show that the percentage of profit earned by the packers on the actual money invested in the business was not exorbitant, but the court sustained an objection. Sulzberger said his company's business totalled $90,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year.

On re-direct examination by Government Counsel Sheehan, the witness said his company sold hides for from 8 to 16 cents a pound in 1907-08, when the packers showed no allowances for hides in figuring the test cost of beef.

"Have you ever authorized any of your employes to exchange margins with representatives of Armour, Swift, Morris or the National Packing company since you were a member of the old beef pool in 1902?"

"I have not," was the reply.

William Fawkes, test cost figurer for Sulzberger & Sons Co., was the next witness. He described the method used in arriving at the test cost of beef and said that full allowances for all the by-products were made at the market prices.

WAS A VOLUNTEER FIREMAN IN OLD DAYS OF FORT WAYNE

Peter G. Hohnhaus, Former Assistant Street Commissioner, Dies at the Age of 82 Years.

Peter G. Hohnhaus, pioneer resident of Fort Wayne, member of the volunteer fire department in the olden days and later assistant street commissioner, died at 7:10 o'clock this morning at his home 1059 Wall street.

Mr. Hohnhaus was 82 years of age, and his death was due to senility. He had been in feeble health for the past six weeks, but it was not until ten days ago that he was compelled to take to his bed. For several days friends realized that the end was very near, and the long and active life ended peacefully today. With his widow, who survives, he had celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of his wedding in October last.

Was Native of Germany.

Mr. Hohnhaus was a native of Germany, born January 28, 1830, in Welkendorf, Unterfranken, Bavaria, and came to America in 1851, locating first in Baltimore and later moving to Chambersburg, Pa. He was a draughtsman and cabinet-maker by occupation, and was so employed for many years after his removal to Fort Wayne in 1863.

More than forty years ago he became identified with the old volunteer fire department and for a time was foreman of the Eagles No. 4 company, which had as its fire apparatus a hand engine and a hose wagon, and did its full share of fire fighting in the days before Fort Wayne had risen to the distinction of a paid fire department.

In Employ of the City.

For some years, also, Mr. Hohnhaus was a member of the city council, representing the old Fifth ward in that body, when the ward included the section south of the Pennsylvania tracks and west of Broadway, now a part of the Sixth ward.

Under the administration of Mayor Scherer Mr. Hohnhaus was appointed assistant street commissioner, and he served through the administrations of Mayor Berghoff and Mayor Hosey as well. Politically Mr. Hohnhaus was a democrat, and he was for many years active in local party affairs. He enjoyed a very wide personal acquaintance, and was highly esteemed. Mr. Hohnhaus was one of the oldest members of St. John's Lutheran church.

PETER G. HOHNHAUS.
Well Known Pioneer Citizen Dead at Age of 82 years.

Wedded Sixty Years Ago.

On October 12, 1851, he was united in marriage to Miss Rose Zitzman, and the celebration of their sixtieth wedding anniversary a few months ago was a notable event in the family history. The widow survives, with the following children: Miss Dora Hohnhaus, Mrs. Fred Eisenacher, Mrs. Christ. Greiner, George Hohnhaus, of Chicago; Mrs. William Brudi, Mrs. Fred Roembke, Carl Hohnhaus. Mrs. Gust. Rhein is a daughter-in-law. There are twenty-five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Funeral services Saturday afternoon at 1:30 from the residence and at 2 o'clock from St. John's Lutheran church. Friends are kindly requested to omit flowers.

REBS MAY TAKE IN WHAT THEY CAN

No Restriction by United States as to Traffic at Juarez.

WILL BE A BIG HELP

Washington, Feb. 29.—The United States will not prohibit legitimate exportations, including munitions of war from El Paso, Texas, into the rebel town of Juarez, Mexico. This conclusion was reached today at conferences among officials of the departments of state, justice and treasury.

Shipments of arms and ammunition which to all appearances are legitimately sent from a shipper in this country to a dealer in Mexico will not be intercepted. Munitions of war which seem to be part of a conspiracy against the recognized government of Mexico will not be permited to go out. The law and precedents were gone into extensively by the government authorities as a result of the request from the Mexican ambassador that arms and ammunition be kept out of Juarez.

THIRTY-SIX SLAIN.

Laredo, Texas., Feb. 29.—Thirty-six lives paid the penalty of yesterday's revolt in the penitentiary at Monterey, Mexico, according to incoming passengers. The passengers said that six of the prisoners were killed during the outbreak and twenty-five others, regarded as ringleaders, were executed later. There were about 3,000 prisoners in the institution. Last night's reports said the warden of the penitentiary was among the slain.

The passengers were unable to describe in what manner the remaining five victims were killed, but it is assumed they were among the number slain among the first rush of the revolutionary prisoners.

BARES HIS BACK IN COURT.

Plaintiff in Damage Suit Shows His Injuries.

Richmond, Ind., Feb. 29.—Frank Morgan, plaintiff in a suit for $10,000 damages against the Citizens' Telephone company of Cambridge City, stripped to the waist in the court room on the order of his attorneys and exhibited to the jury the effects of injuries he alleged he received in being knocked from a wagon by a sagging telephone wire. Attorneys for the company indicated by their line of questions, that in their belief Morgan was "shamming" and his attorneys at the first opportunity directed Morgan to exhibit his injuries to the jury. The attorneys asked the women in the court room to retire and Morgan bared himself to the waist.

DR. WILEY SAYS HE WILL NOT RESIGN

Pure Food Crusader Enters a Roaring Denial of Such Report

OUT OF POLITICS, TOO

Washington, Feb. 29.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist of the department of agriculture, denied today that he had any intention of resigning from office. He characterized as "preposterous" and "pure fiction" the rumors to the effect that he was considering such action and that he probably would come out with a statement attacking Secretary Wilson and the administration.

Dr. Wiley declared that the rumors that he was about to resign, undoubtedly came from "enemies" who recently had attacked him in other ways. As to the report that after resigning he would be a candidate for vice president on the democratic ticket, the doctor laughed and said, "I could not run on that ticket. I am a whole democrat; that is the others are only semi-democrats. I believe in the equal rights of man, the right of women as well as of men to vote. Wherefore, I am a whole democrat."

FOURTEEN HURT IN WRECK.

He said he had a younger brother named South East. He had been working on the Monon and sold his "time" and when his check came it is alleged he failed to turn it over to the buyer. He said he would have no trouble in squaring the transaction.

FREE LUNCH FOR A REGULAR DIET

Mrs. Schneider Declares Husband Said It Was Good Enough.

TOOK A HOT SHOT

Mary Schneider took a hot shot at Maurice Schneider in an amended divorce complaint filed in the superior court today and said among other things that he complained because she cooked food for their children saying that the free lunch served in his saloon was good enough for them.

She also says he threatened one time to kill her and when he was overpowered and searched a revolver was found in his pocket and she obtained a restraining order to prevent him from molesting her.

It is further charged that the saloon is frequented by women of ill repute and that he found fault with her because she would not associate with them to help the receipts of the business. The wife goes further and said her husband scolded because she objected to padding the accounts of credit customers and registered complaint after complaint because she insisted on giving the children as good educations as their means permitted.

RAZING EARLY THEATER.

First Playhouse in United States Being Torn Down.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 29.—The building occupied by the first theater in the United States is being demolished to make way for a big business establishment. The early theater was built in 1795 and opened a year later with Hallam's company of players from England.

So great was the opposition to the theater in Philadelphia that the building was located outside the confines of the city proper in the old district of Southwark in a locality then in ill-repute known to the wits of the town as "society hill," but even their efforts were made to suppress it. The theater burned in 1812, but was rebuilt and in recent years had been used as a distillery.

Mr. Sherman saw the president for a moment today. As he left the white house he was asked if he had anything to say about the report.

"No sir, not a word," he said.

The operators will meet here and formulate their reply next Tuesday. It is currently believed that the principal demands of the miners will be rejected.

Secretary of State Given All the Walls Down in Panama.

Panama City, Feb. 29.—Secretary of State Knox left here this morning at eight o'clock with the intention of making a leisurely trip to Colon with frequent stops on the way for the purpose of inspecting the Panama canal.

When taking leave of the party of government officials who accompanied him to the station, Mr. Knox told them that he was immensely pleased with the cordiality of the welcome with which he had been received.

Mr. Knox and his companions will return on board the cruiser Washington this afternoon, when anchor will be immediately weighed and the warship will proceed to Fort Costa Rica, where the party expects to arrive tomorrow and to continue the journey to the capital, San Jose, at once.

LAWRENCE MILL STRIKE NEAR END

Employers Are Said to Be Ready to Grant Some Concessions.

WAGE MAY BE BETTER

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 29.—The mill owners have agreed to grant concessions to the operatives, according to a statement made here late this afternoon. The proposed concessions are understood to include a wage advance of five per cent over the rate formerly paid for 56 hours work each week.

More operatives were working in the various textile mills today than on any previous day of the big strike, which is now in its eighth week. Fewer pickets were in evidence than usual and the police were given but little trouble. Prior to the departure of the children to Boston a crowd of about 50 persons gathered at the railroad station in the belief that a party of children was to be sent away, but upon learning that plans of the strikers to transport youngsters today had been changed they soon dispersed. Several lines of activity, in connection with the strike, were continued today. Important among these was the investigation regarding the legal side of the matter of exportation of children from the city. A development probable today was the formal declaration of a strike by the Central Labor union, of this city. Should such a vote be passed it was expected that a general call for funds would be issued to unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor in aid of families of the strikers.

The jury was out 112 hours.

WOMAN ON TRIAL.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 29.—That the defense in the case of Bessie Gentry charged with the murder of her husband, an Oklahoma City business man, will, in the attempt to secure her acquittal, advance the theory that Jesse K. Mackey killed Gentry, was brought out at the woman's trial today.

Mackey testified for the prosecution yesterday. He detailed his alleged intimacy with Mrs. Gentry and declared he had been at the Gentry home the night of the killing, Jan. 6, but said he was not in the room when the fatal shot was fired.

The Sneed trial began Jan. 29, the jury being finally selected Feb. 3. The case went to the twelve men Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock and for three days the body begged the judge to discharge them, announcing in less than twelve hours after getting the case that they were hopelessly divided.

On Oct. 13 last Mrs. Sneed told her husband that she loved Al Boyce and wished to go to South America with him. Sneed sent his wife to a sanitarium, saying he believed her insane. From that institution she wrote to Al Boyce:

"For God's sake come and take me out of this mad house."

On Nov. 8 Boyce eloped with her from Fort Worth and then began a chase by Sneed in which the banker spent $20,000. He finally overtook the couple on Dec. 26 at Winnipeg, Canada, where the Canadian authorities held them in custody and where Mrs. Sneed was restored to her husband. Mrs. Sneed was sent back to the Texas sanitarium, after which Sneed was told the Boyces were plotting to get her out. On the night of January 13 Sneed shot and killed Captain Boyce as the latter sat in a hotel lobby chair.

EXPRESS ROBBERY HAS BEEN SOLVED

Two Men Who Did an $8,000 Job in Pennsylvania Are Arrested.

MONEY IS RECOVERED

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 29.—After confessing that with the help of another man he had robbed the Wells Fargo Express company of $8,000, which was being carried in transit between Pittsburg and Butler, Pa., in a trolley car of which he was motorman, Kenneth H. Morton was today turned over to a Pittsburg detective by the Philadelphia authorities. The name of the confederate was not made public, but it is stated he is being hunted.

According to Morton the proceeds of the robbery were evenly divided and he turned over to the police $3,700, which he said was part of the loot. He also surrendered a diamond ring which had been purchased since the robbery. The money, in small denominations, was stolen on Jan. 23.

Morton, who is 30 years old, was suspected and when he quit the service of the trolley company and came to Philadelphia he was shadowed.

Morton and his wife visited banks and had small bills changed into bills of larger denominations. They were taken to police headquarters, where the matron found $600 concealed in the stocking of Mrs. Morton. Acting on information given by the man his apartments were searched and more than $3,000 was found hidden in a small cracker box. Mrs. Morton was not held and the police say she sincerely believed that the money she had in her possession was the savings of her husband.

THE OTHER CONFESSES.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 29.—Joseph J. Jackson, conductor on the Pittsburg, Butler and Harmony trolley line, was arrested today as his car came in from Butler. He is held in connection with the $8,000 Wells Fargo express robbery and in a statement said the money was stolen by Kenneth H. Morton, who was arrested in Philadelphia last night. He further asserts that Morton gave him $3,000.

Jackson says he took the money to his boarding house in Harmony and buried it at the rear of the house. Officers have gone to Harmony to recover the money.

BATHTUB TRUST TRIAL GOES ON

Judge Angell Declines to End Case, Though He Says It's Weak.

JURY WILL DECIDE IT

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 29.—The plea of the attorneys for the defense in the government's criminal suit against the so-called bath tub trust, that the prosecution be dropped against all of the defendants because of lack of evidence, was denied by Judge Angell today. In his ruling Judge Angell said:

"Although I am perfectly well satisfied in my own mind that there would be little need of putting the case to a jury, the evidence that has been introduced, inasmuch as the government is without appeal, I shall deny your motion and permit the case to continue."

Attorney Robert Honeyman, for the defense, then moved that a verdict of acquittal be immediately returned in favor of certain defendants whose names have not been mentioned by witnesses for the government as being present when the alleged conspiracy was formed. Included in this list of defendants was the Union Sanitary Manufacturing company, of Noblesville, Ind., and its president, L. C. Huesman.

MILLION DOLLAR GRAFT IS CHARGED

Determined Attack to Be Made on Bridge Trust in Kansas.

STUBBS ORDERS SUIT

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 29.—Governor Stubbs has begun a fight on the alleged bridge trust which is charged with taking from Kansas more than $1,000,000 a year, by turning his guns on an Omaha company which is declared to have put in a bill against Smith county in which there is fully $40,000 "graft."

In a letter the governor has sent to Attorney General Dawson, ordering him to bring proceedings against the bridge company, the governor says he is advised by State Engineer Gearhart that L. C. Uhl, county attorney of Smith county, has held up a warrant for $70,000 issued on order of the county commissioners to the bridge company. This warrant, the governor says he is advised was issued without specifying the particular bridges which were being paid for, and that bridge contracts made by the commissioners were so general in their terms as to be illegal.

The bridge company, the governor says, has put in a claim for $96,000. State Engineer Gearhart, after investigating the work done, declares that there is fully $40,000 graft in the bill over and above the work done, with 25 per cent. profit added; that the bridges built under the contracts do not comply with the specifications in any particular.

Gearhart recently exposed alleged graft in Kansas, at a road meeting at Ottawa, and Governor Stubbs followed with a speech in which he said that the state was going into the fight to oust the trust from Kansas and put grafting county officials in jail. The bridge engineer estimated this alleged graft—divided, he charged, between bridge men and county officials—at not less than $1,000,000 a year.

The governor and the state engineer were supported by state engineers of Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and other states, and at a conference of these bridge engineers, a plan of campaign against the bridge companies and the alleged grafters was outlined.

Governor Stubbs and Gearhart have been gathering evidence for several months and several other cases of alleged graft in Kansas are to be taken up immediately. The governor declares he has evidence enough to send, and will send, a dozen or more county officials to the penitentiary.

The bridge company insists that it rendered services worth fully the amount of the contract.

SLOW MARCH OR A FAST DEFENSE

George Greenwood Says When Black Man Has a Razor He's Bad.

CASE IS CONTINUED

"There I was backed up in a co'nah, like this, see? and heah he comes with a razah and when a black man's comin' with a razah you got to act quick or follow a slow ma'ch out to the cemetery.

"Ah didn't use no bayonet nor nuthin' till he crowds me in a co'nah and I didn't have no time to think, I had to work so fast."

This is Ira Moore's explanation of a little exchange between him and George Greenwood last night in a room occupied by both. They were held until tomorrow to get a witness. Both are charged with assault and battery.

SAYS HIS WIFE IS A BOOZE FIGHTER

Former Fort Wayne Woman Leads Charles McFall, of Hartford City, a Sorry Life.

Hartford City, Ind., Feb. 29.—Charles McFall, stack builder and boilermaker, of Wabash, appeared in Justice Lucus' court Wednesday and signed an affidavit charging his wife, Clara McFall, with intoxication. A warrant was issued to Sheriff Townsend, who was sent out to bring the woman into court. Pleading not guilty and being unable to give bond Mrs. McFall went to jail to await trial. The prisoner is the divorced wife of John Long, a cab driver. The charges, McFall says, are only a forerunner to other accusations that will be embodied in a complaint for divorce to be filed later.

McFall has been living with his father-in-law, Thomas Green, at 523 East Commercial street, and until recently was employed at the Blackford paper mills. He is now out of employment. Several months ago he says he met Clara Green in Fort Wayne, where she was living as the wife of a man by the name of Hall. He fell in love with her and she accepted his proposal of marriage. The wedding took place at Wabash last Christmas and since that time McFall alleges his matrimonial experience has been most unpleasant.

They resided in Wabash for two months and while there McFall says it cost him from $1.25 to $2 a week to buy his wife whisky. When he cut off her booze allowance she began visiting the saloons, he claims, guzzling liquor with every Tom, Dick and Harry who had the price of a drink. Clara also was addicted to smoking cigarettes, her husband says, but he broke her of that habit and she now puffs a corn cob pipe.

Last Friday night McFall says his wife called up a local saloonkeeper and made a "date" with him and that he secured the services of Sheriff Townsend to shadow the pair. They were unable, however, to locate Clara and her paramour. The climax was reached Tuesday night, when, according to McFall, his wife came home drunk.

The husband says his wife kept him awake all night cursing him and that when he got up Wednesday morning he decided to put an end to his trouble by leaving. He came down town and filed the charges against her. Late in the afternoon, however, he relented and sought to have the affidavit against his wife dismissed. He said that he was not positive that she was intoxicated.

Allen Hursh, deputy county surveyor, is confined to his home by an attack of tonsilitis.

NOW "AUTOMATICALLY WET,"

But Saloons May Not Get Back Into Wells County.

Bluffton, Ind., Feb. 29.—Wells county in theory is now "automatically wet," as just two years ago yesterday the county local option election was held, and under the Proctor law, repealing or amending the county option law, the previous election could make the drought continue only two years from the date of the same.

It remains to be determined in commissioners' court next week whether the county is "wet" in reality, for there will be nine applications for liquor licenses confront the board of commissioners and the "wet" and "dry" forces will wage a contest to determine whether or not blanket remonstrances filed for each of the three wards are sufficient. Outlying townships are taking steps to continue "dry" where there is any chance of saloon applications.

THE TREE ORDINANCE.

There ought not to be any hesitancy by the city council to pass the tree ordinance asked for by the board of park commissioners. Surely no one is of the mind to question that the care of trees in Fort Wayne is of enough importance to be looked after in some better way than is now employed. Fort Wayne has thousands of beautiful shade trees and ought to have thousands more. Trees constitute one of the choicest assets of beauty any city can have and it should be a municipal duty to care for them. Unless the city assumes a prescribed and regulated function of this sort the planting, culture and preservation of trees will go on without wisdom and without skill, both of which must be consulted to procure the finest results. To confer formal authority on the park board to discharge this function and to employ a forester for the city will bring about conditions of which the city in good time will be proud. It will stop the tree butchering of which this city shows so many hideous and offensive examples and it will encourage the planting of trees. Moreover, the city is confronted with a serious condition in respect of the trees. Many of them have been attacked by scale and other destructive pests. These scourges of the trees will spread unless checked and the city's shade in parks and on the streets will be ruined. The employment of a capable forester will be a great aid, not only in preserving the trees from the butchers and the parasitic pests, but will do much to procure the planting of the right kind of trees and insure their proper nurture and care. No special burden of expense will be imposed, though if a considerable expense should be entailed it would be well worth while. Those cities which have devoted scientific skill to the care and intelligent direction to the planting of trees have results that give them distinction. The council ought not to hesitate to comply with the request of the park board. It will save the trees we have and give us more of them.

Expert McRae, who investigated the books which the steel trust was so reluctant to produce before the house committee now probing Mr. Morgan's billion dollar merger, discovered some things that are interesting. He thinks the steel trust is a monopoly sure enough and he uncovered an annual succession of profits for a period of nine years that makes the corporation look like a good thing. The most interesting assertion in Expert McRae's report is that the steel magnates deceived President Roosevelt about 33 per cent when, in the fall of 1907, they got his extra-legal permission to make their now celebrated ravishment of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company. They sought to make it clear to the president at that time that the trust was not a monopoly and that it controlled only about 60 per cent of the business of the country. Expert McRae declares that the trust controlled 80 per cent, which may be fairly regarded as approximating a monopoly. It is an interesting report and will be likely to cut something of a figure in the house committee's findings.

Common sense will be put to some strain to find any necessity for postponing the democratic national convention beyond the date already fixed in order to gain time to meet possible contingencies the Roosevelt candidacy may develop. Just what difference the candidacy and even the nomination of Roosevelt can make with what the democratic party ought to do will puzzle even good guessers. If there is one man who will be above another well for the country, he is that man the democrats should nominate. If there are any principles for the platform that beyond others promise much for the welfare of the people, these should be made part of the democratic creed. Just how the candidacy of Roosevelt may modify democratic duty in these respects is not very susceptible of explanation. Opportunists and trimmers may discern the need of time to calculate and prepare to meet Roosevelt, but the straight and earnest democracy will not be able to either see or feel such a need.

The senate of the United States will soon be a much soiled institution if many more seats are to be attacked as having been procured through corruption. The malodorous Lorimer case is well known and the Stephenson affair hardly less so. Now comes an attack on the seat of Delaware's millionaire senator, the knightly DuPont, of the powder trust. There cannot be much uncertainty as to the committee's findings and report in the Lorimer election and the minority report of the committee makes a determined attack upon Stephenson's right to hold his seat. A strenuous effort is under way to procure the resolution for an investigation of the manner by which DuPont broke in. The senate is beginning to feel that it needs a cleaning, a fumigation and a vindication.

Congressman Boehne has closed his gubernatorial headquarters in Indianapolis and his manager announces that the fight will be directed from Evansville. This move seems to have been counseled by the result of the Marion county primaries, which returned a solid Ralston delegation. Whether Mr. Boehne means to continue his contest for the gubernatorial nomination is not made absolutely definite; but that he will continue his war on Crawford Fairbanks and Thomas Taggart there is not much reason to doubt. The results in Marion county would seem to give practical assurance that Ralston will be the nominee for governor.

Governor Osborn's rush to get a presidential primary law in his state in time to create a Roosevelt delegation to the Chicago convention may after all come to nothing. The Michigan senate is not as keen for The Colonel as Michigan's governor and the fate of the project is involved in doubt. However, that does not affect the intrinsic merit of it.

The rebels at Juarez are deporting themselves in a blameless and exemplary fashion—so much so, that it must cause a deal of impatient itching in our army in the field.

When it comes to matching governors Mr. Taft can show a few of his own.

MR. ROOSEVELT ON THE "RECALL OF DECISIONS."

(Chicago Record-Herald.)

In his speech to the Massachusetts legislature Mr. Roosevelt complained that his views on the judiciary had been misrepresented in headlines and consequently misunderstood by many people. He proceeded to restate his position and argue that it was not revolutionary or incompatible with sober, intelligent government. But he wound up with the gratifying statement that he was not "wedded to the method" and would cheerfully discard it in favor of a better one, provided it "put a stop to the courts nullifying laws which the people deem necessary to their welfare."

Better and more conservative methods than Mr. Roosevelt's have been suggested, in point of fact, by legal and other writers.

In a nutshell, his "plan" or method is this: Where a state statute enacted under the police power to preserve public health, safety or morals has been declared unconstitutional by the supreme court of that state, the decision is to be submitted to the voters at the next regular election. That would constitute a referendum on the meaning or construction of the constitutional provision supposed to be violated by the statute in question, and a majority of the voters would decide whether the supreme court's interpretation was sound or unsound, correct or erroneous. The majority, in other words, would review the decision and either uphold it or reverse and "recall" it. The reversal would be final, except where an appeal lay to the United States supreme court. Under the "plan" neither national statutes nor United States supreme court decisions would be subject to any referendum and recall.

Nothing that has been said for this method removes the fundamental objections to it. A referendum on supreme court decisions makes an accidental and temporary majority at an election a sort of super-supreme court. It is less revolutionary to recall an individual judge than to submit to voters and "recall" decision of an entire court, thus making it ridiculous and impotent. It has not been shown, and it cannot be shown, that the recall of decision is either necessary or desirable.

Are too many wholesome statutes annulled by technical and unprogressive judges? A rational way to prevent undue overriding of legislatures and executives by courts would be to provide expressly that no law should be annulled by a bare majority of a court—that, say, five judges out of seven, or six out of nine, must unite in any decision invalidating a statute on constitutional grounds. This would do away with five to four and four to three decisions which bewilder laymen and settle nothing to anyone's satisfaction.

Will not Mr. Roosevelt admit that this method is a safer and wiser one than the method he is now advocating—tentatively, as we understand him?

INDIANA ROADS.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The beautiful showing made by Indiana in the matter of mileage of "improved roads," published by the department of agriculture, looks well on paper—a good deal better than it does on the roads. Between "improved roads" and "good roads" there may be, and often is, a vast difference. A "good road" is one that is hard and smooth the year around, shedding water and showing no dust. Under this definition we have no good roads in Indiana, outside the paved streets of the cities and towns. At certain seasons of the year some of our gravel roads are delightful and our macadam roads are usually good for about six months after they are made, but lack of maintenance quickly puts them to the bad, and in wet weather most of our gravel roads are a fright.

It is not that we do not spend money enough on them. Our road taxes amount to over $4,000,000 a year. Can any results for this vast expenditure be seen? But that does not measure half the waste. On a good modern road hauling costs about 10 cents per ton per mile. In Indiana this cost runs from 16 cents to 35 cents. Last year the farmers of the state hauled to market something over 15,000,000 tons of produce, the average haul being something over five miles. It thus cost them 50 cents per ton more than it would have cost with good roads. Figure this waste and it runs to the snug sum of $6,500,000. Quite a little money to throw away, is it not? Suppose the farmer had saved it and split it with the consumer of his products. It would have lowered that high cost of living very materially.

This report merely serves to show that at one time Indiana was well to the front in the matter of roads. In 1904 it had over 25,000 miles of improved roads. In 1909 it had a little over 24,000 miles—in considerably worse condition than they were in 1904. Other states are forging to the front, notably Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York and some of the southern states, with splendid modern roads. How much longer shall we stick in the mud every spring and every autumn?

WHAT HISTORY COULD NOT DO.

(Kansas City Star.)

"Suppose that history repeats itself," suggests the Washington Star. "If radical progressiveness triumphs at both conventions and the conservatives secede, will they unite upon a ticket to express their protest against radicalism?"

It would be difficult to imagine history repeating itself in the event of "radical progressiveness" dominating the national conventions of both political parties, for the simple reason that such a situation is unknown in the history of political parties in America. It would not be an easy task for history to repeat what has never occurred.

Possibly the Washington Star refers to the campaign of 1860. But in 1860 it was the conservative progressives who won in the two conventions. The Bourbons of the democracy who represented the big business of that day bolted the convention, while the radical progressives of the republican party were displeased with Lincoln because he did not go as far as they desired him to go against slavery.

And if the esteemed Washington Star does refer to 1860, it should remind the standpatters what happened to them because they refused to take the advice of the conservative progressives like Douglas and Lincoln. History might repeat itself in that particular feature of that campaign, except, of course, by more peaceful methods.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Sam Harmon and James Wilding are going to Duluth tomorrow to speculate.

The Salvation Army held an open-air meeting at the artesian well last evening.

Fred W. Walters, a veteran piano tuner, was found dead at his home, 136 East Jefferson street last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Fisher entertained in a royal way a party of friends last evening. Mr. W. J. Scanlan, the actor, was among their guests.

McCulloch park is taking shape. Councilman Michael is giving it his personal attention and when summer comes the people of Fort Wayne will have "a place to go to."

Mr. E. Howe, of Springfield township, was a caller at our office today. Mr. Howe has been a subscriber to the Weekly Sentinel since 1838.

Mr. Wade Shoaff died this morning at St. Joseph's hospital. Mr. Shoaff can be regarded as the pioneer of merchant tailors. He came here along in 1839 or 1840, engaging in mercantile pursuits, through which he accumulated considerable wealth.

Upon the petition of the Messrs. Keil, Judge O'Rourke, in the circuit court this morning, appointed John W. Hayden, of the firm of Hayden & Douglass, receiver for the Gazette property and its Associated Press franchise. This morning Mr. Hayden reorganized the management of the Gazette. Mr. W. P. Cooper will succeed Hon. T. P. Keator in the editorial department and Mr. Steven Koller, of Keil Bros. book store, succeeds Mr. B. M. Holman as business manager.

Routine business was transacted at the meeting of the Business Men's Exchange last evening, with Mr. C. W. Seavey presiding. The matter of issuing an address to set forth the business advantages of the city, the securing of new enterprises from abroad, the removal of trucks from about the court house square, the freeing of the toll gravel roads, the method of adopting street pavements and matters affecting the exchange were favorably considered and papers will be presented at the next meeting.

TEMPLE THEATER

Everything goes with a rush at the Temple vaudeville this week. The curtain rises, after Mr. Dicey's men have played a musical bit, on a xylophone. Then on trips a slight, modest young woman known as Esmeralda, and she proceeds to hammer out the "Semeramide" overture and a number of other real tunes in a manner likely to make your head whirl with watching. She's a wonder is Esmeralda and she makes a xylophone speak as quite no one else. Esmeralda and the lively nonsense of the Arlington Four, messenger boys who dance and sing in a clever and lively manner that always brings the laugh and generous approval of the audience, have a new sensation sandwiched between them. The new thing is Mercedes. Mercedes is supposed to be a mind reader. She is blindfolded while she sits at a piano and she proceeds to first name and then play with the aid of an assistant, any tune that is thought of by persons in the audience. That is, she names and plays the tunes her assistant first gets from the minds of such persons as are willing to have their minds read. Of course he can't take time to use everyone who thinks of a tune. The trick is a clever one and interests those who don't think of some special composition and baffles those who find their thought answered on the stage.

The big stunt of the bill is the Adams and Guhl company in an unusually long act for vaudeville called "The Two Admirals." The two comedians, Gus Adams and George Guhl, have a good company with them, many pretty dancing girls and several singers of whom Miss Dorothy Dailey is exceptionally charming in every way. Messrs. Adams and Guhl are the most of the show. They haven't anything remarkable to be funny about but some way they manage to be so and the audience is in a gale of laughter the most of the time. The two men have a lot to do and they have plenty of help. The parodies in the latter part of the act make the biggest hit. The farce has some pretty scenes, the girls are well and tastefully costumed and several songs, "Silvery Nile," "Old Oak Tree," and "Good Night Mr. Moon" are particularly good.

GAME BIRDS FROM SIBERIA.

They Are Brought to America and Will Be Widely Distributed.

New York, Feb. 29.—A thousand rare game birds from Siberia and the orient reached New York today on the steamship Minnewaska, destined for Oak Park, Chicago, where they will be mated and then they with their young will be distributed throughout the United States by Samuel Evans and his son, Wallace, who brought them to this country. Among the collection are ducks from Lake Baikal in Siberia, considered the rarest of game birds ever taken from their native haunts; geese, swan and ducks from Formosa, Japan, Egypt, Holland, Lake Victoria, Nyanza and remote sections of Europe. To obtain the specimens from Lake Victoria Nyanza, Mr. Evans said an expedition penetrated the jungle and lived for months at the lake, trapping the fowls at their feeding grounds.

Mr. Evans said that he had a still larger variety of game birds in Africa which he intends to bring to America within a few months.

PASTOR BACK TO NATURE.

Quits Prominent Pulpit to Raise Chickens.

Atlantic City, Feb. 29.—At the services in the First Presbyterian church tomorrow night Rev. Dr. Herbert M. Gesner, one of the most prominent clergymen in the city, will announce his retirement from the pastorate and his proposed removal to Mystic, Conn., where, as he expresses it, he will "get back to nature and raise chickens."

The retirement of Dr. Gesner follows rumors to the effect that dissatisfaction existed in his congregation over his supposed Unitarian tendencies, his alleged disapproval of the recent evangelistic campaign and other movements of a similar character. Leading members of the church deny, however, the existence of any friction, and declare that the pastor's continued ill health is the sole cause for his quitting.

No Substitute for Newbro's Herpicide

"Something Just As Good"

A discovery can be made but once. After that all similar acts become emulation, imitation or an attempt at substitution.

Newbro's Herpicide is a discovery. It was the first remedy ever given to science to kill the dandruff germ. Other preparations have since been offered to the public, some similar in appearance, some in odor, but all bringing the darling promise of doing the same things that Herpicide has been doing for years.

Every article of this kind is merely one more instance of vicious emulation, vile imitation or a base attempt at substitution.

The "something just as good" story is old, why give it a thought? Herpicide is the Original Remedy. It kills the dandruff germ and prevents the hair from falling. Itching of the scalp stops almost with the first application.

Don't be deceived by "Something just as good." If your own druggist does not keep the genuine dandruff germ destroyer, Newbro's Herpicide, go to one who does.

One dollar size bottles are sold under an absolute guarantee.

Send 10c in postage for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. Applications may be obtained at good barber shops. Bradley Bros., 627 Calhoun, Special Agents.

FOUGHT SNAKES ALL NIGHT.

Cowboy is Insane After Experience in an Abandoned Well.

Galveston, Tex., Feb. 29.—Fifteen hours battling with a dozen or more blacksnakes forty feet below ground in an abandoned well, was the racking experience of Charles Welbourne, a cowboy residing in Valverde county. When rescued in the morning after a night in the well, Welbourne had lost his reason; and his arms and legs were literally covered with bites from the snakes.

Eight dead snakes, measuring in length from two to four feet, were taken out, but the details of his frightful experience will not be known unless he recovers, and his condition is said to be serious.

Welbourne was riding horseback when seen in the neighborhood about 5 o'clock Sunday evening, and his horse returned to the Little Branch about midnight. Shortly after a search was instituted, and at 9 o'clock Sunday his maniacal screams directed the searchers to the well on the side of an old ranch. With ropes the man was pulled out.

Dr Ogle has resumed the practice of medicine. See card. 2-1-tf.

IN THE CITY'S CHURCHES

NEXT MEETING TO BE HELD HERE

Methodist Conference at Bluffton Selects Fort Wayne.

AT ST. PAUL CHURCH

The annual conference of the Fort Wayne district of the Methodist Episcopal church, which has been in session at Bluffton, closed last night and pastors from this city who were in attendance have returned home. The next meeting, so the conference decided Wednesday forenoon, will be held in Fort Wayne, the invitation extended by the St. Paul church, through its pastor, Rev. F. H. Cremean, having been accepted.

The closing feature of the conference was the address of Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president of the United States, who spoke of mission work abroad as he had observed it while on his trip of the eastern continent. His address was replete with interest.

The sessions Wednesday afternoon were devoted in a large measure to the discussion of the question, "What Shall We Stand for in the Present Temperance Crisis?" The general trend of the speakers was in accord with the propaganda of the Anti-Saloon league in urging broader legislation in this subject. The speakers were: J. C. Valentine, Emory Dunbar, G. H. Crafts, C. M. Lantis, M. C. Pittinger, E. M. Foster, B. Sawyer, C. King, O. V. L. Harbor, P. H. Walter, F. S. Hickman, G. W. Leislung, A. B. Gillman, F. H. Cremean, A. B. Cline, M. H. Thornburg and Charles A. Sherwood.

There were four applicants for license as local preachers, but only one successfully passed the examination. He was Shirley Sunday, of the Trinity church of Fort Wayne.

Dr. J. A. Beatty, the superintendent of the district, made his report at the sessions. It showed marked prosperity spiritually and financially among the churches of the district and the various auxilliary organizations. He reviewed the church building of the last year. This the Sentinel covered in an article published last Saturday.

THE DOCTOR HABIT

And How She Overcame It.

When well selected food has helped the honest physician place his patient in sturdy health and free from the "doctor habit," it is a source of satisfaction to all parties. A Chicago woman says:

"We have not had a doctor in the house during all the five years that we have been using Grape-Nuts food. Before we began, however, we had "the doctor habit" and scarcely a week went by without a call on our physician.

"When our youngest boy arrived, five years ago, I was very much run down and nervous, suffering from indigestion and almost continuous headaches. I was not able to attend to my ordinary domestic duties and was so nervous that I could scarcely control myself. Under advice I took to Grape-Nuts.

"I am now, and have been ever since we began to use Grape-Nuts food, able to do all my own work. The dyspepsia, headaches, nervousness and rheumatism which used to drive me fairly wild, have entirely disappeared.

"My husband finds that in the night work in which he is engaged, Grape-Nuts food supplies him the most wholesome, strengthening and satisfying lunch he ever took with him." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville" in packages. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

BIBLE AND MILTON

Furnish Idea for Haydn's Great Oratorio "Creation."

The words of Haydn's first and greatest oratorio, "The Creation," are borrowed for the most part from the book of Genesis and from Milton's poem, Paradise Lost. The music was written in the year 1796 to 1798 and the oratorio first publicly produced in the spring of 1799. This production was backed by various Austrian noblemen, who paid all expenses and turned the proceeds, $1,600 in all, over to Haydn.

A carefully selected list of choruses, solos, duets and trios from "The Creation" will be given next Sunday night at the First Presbyterian church. The soloists have been working hard and Mr. Archer has been diligently drilling the double quartet which will give the choruses, so that the customary high musical standard of the First Presbyterian church will be maintained in this production.

All who attend the evening service at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday will be amply repaid for their efforts in the enjoyment afforded by the music.

HOSPITAL FOR DEFECTIVES.

New Institution is Proposed for State of New York.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 29.—The bill now pending in the legislature providing for the appointment by the governor of a commission of three members to select a site in or near New York City for an institution for the custodial care of mentally defective male delinquents and a site for a place of observation, such as now exists at Gottingen, Germany, has the support of the state board of charities, according to a statement issued today. The measure was introduced at the request of the prison association of New York and also is favored by the state conference of city magistrates and of the conference composed of the state representatives of the leading charitable and prison reform associations of the state.

The commission is to report to the legislature a draft of legislation designed to carry out and make effective the purpose of the new institution.

ARGUMENTS IN KIMMEL CASE.

Final Stage of the Hearing to Solve Great Mystery.

St. Louis, Feb. 29.—Attorneys today commenced arguments in the United States district court here in the Kimmel identity mystery, involving the payment of a $5,000 life insurance policy. Other policies with their accrued interest and refundable premiums make the amount at stake $40,000.

The receiver of a defunct bank at Niles, Mich., brought suit in 1904 against an insurance company of New York to recover payment on a policy on the life of George A. Kimmel, an Arkansas City, Ark., banker, who mysteriously disappeared July 30, 1903. Kimmel's sister, Edna Kimmel, now Mrs. Edna Bonsiette, was the beneficiary and assigned the policy to the bank.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"NEWLYWEDS AND THEIR BABY."

The Enormous Success Saturday Matinee and Night.

Many theater-goers will recall the great success made here a few years ago by a musical comedy called "Comin' Through the Rye." Just why, no one could say. Little was known about it, yet a desire to see it seemed to become contagious. It impressed people as being good, and the performance lived up to expectations. Packed houses were the rule through New England. On return dates every ticket was sold in a few hours. That was several years ago. The theory of cycles in things theatrical as well as in the history of nations, seems to be borne out by the success of a new candidate for box office honors bearing the unique title of "The Newlyweds and Their Baby." Its history parallels that of "Comin' Through the Rye." Originally produced in New York, it ran for several months. It was taken on the road and drew packed houses right from the start. People turned away almost nightly. Exactly the case with "The Newlyweds." In a comparatively short time, it has made a fortune—that is, a theatrical fortune for its owners. This is the first venture into New England and so far it has hit the bull's eye. It is an excellent entertainment, novel in plot, a line of characters new to the stage. In fact a distinct departure from anything yet offered in the musical comedy line. It's a big company—over sixty people.

The Newlyweds and their wonderful baby will be seen here at the Majestic Saturday matinee and night.

MAJOR BUTT GOING ABROAD.

President's Military Aid is Reported in Ill Health.

Washington, Feb. 29.—Major A. W. Butt, personal aid to President Taft, was today granted a leave of absence by the war department for one month and 24 days, and on Saturday will sail from New York for the Mediterranean. The leave was granted on a surgeon's certificate. Major Butt was taken ill on the president's trip last fall and for a part of the journey was confined to his room in Mr. Taft's private car. Ever since his return to Washington his health has been poor and finally army doctors ordered him to stop work and take a vacation. Major Butt was personal aid to former President Roosevelt the last year he was in the white house.

Minneapolis Symphony Concert.

Among the great orchestras of America probably none is attracting more attention and favorable comment than the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, which, during the last few years, has won unprecedented success throughout the west, culminating in a concert at Orchestra hall, Chicago, last March, which was little less than a musical sensation. Wherever it has appeared critics and public have accorded the highest praise to the orchestra and hailed its conductor, Emil Oberhoffer, as one of the foremost conductors of the day, ranking him with Nickisch, Muck and Weingartner. Much interest attaches to the concert this orchestra is to give March 20 in this city under the auspices of the morning musical society. The orchestra has eighty-five players and is maintained by a guarantee fund of $65,000 per year subscribed by the public spirited people of Minneapolis.

NEW MODEL FOR GIRLS.

By Mrs. Jane Ford.

YOUNG girls very much dislike dresses that are fussy and require a great deal of trouble to adjust. Therefore, the straight, plain Russian frocks with their side front closing and removable chemisettes are most popular with the younger generation. A particularly good model, that shows plainly it is this season's design, is pictured. The plaits over each shoulder are broad and stitched only to the waist line, from which point the goods is pressed in position and allowed to fall loose. The broad collar is square at the back and slopes in shawl effect at the front.

Dark blue serge dress in a plain or herringbone weave, worn with a collar of heavy pique and a patent leather belt, makes a smart suit that is suitable for any occasion, where sheer party frocks are not required. Mothers who are planning to do their spring and summer sewing early will do well to make several of these frocks in wash materials, such as galatea, linen, percale and pique.

To copy the dress in thirty-six inch material, four yards will be needed for a girl eight years of age.

The Trend of the Tailor-Made Suit Shows Simplicity

Severity of Line Marks the Coat and Skirt Costume of Early Spring.

Everything is as much in a state of incoherence and uncertainty in regard to tailor mades as it is in other departments of the world of dress. Simply you pay your money (and for a new model a very considerable sum of it) and if you are ordering for early spring you take your choice. Whether this will continue to be the case as the season advances it may be premature to say.

Meantime, however, there are two influences. There is the tailored garment with seams in surprising places, especially favored in striped and checked materials, and there is the severer yet for all its mannish lines the essentially feminine coat which is short and smart but has no adornment other than its facings and a few harmless if quite unnecessary buttons.

Many do not doubt the success of the simple style. If one wants fantasy the coming of the warmer season offers the tailored gown upon which to exercise one's fancy, and it is said that we shall also see a new style that is half gown, half costume, in which a skirt, probably of the corselet variety, will be combined with a little short coat or bolero in such fashion that the wearer will be able to put on all her own clothes and to fasten everything except perhaps the middle button of her blouse.

Needless to say such a fashion would be hailed with unalloyed joy by hard worked husbands, who stand in mortal terror of the hook and eye.

Materials will be much cut up, and the ingenuity of the cutter will be much exercised in this style of dress, but we shall do our best to possess simplicity as the keynote of the coat and skirt.

WATCH FOR EARLY MOTHS.

Moth Millers Mean Mischief Wherever They Are Seen.

We are all familiar with the moth miller seen flitting about in the early dusk during late spring and early summer. If, when a closet door opens, a number of these moth flutter out we may rest assured that mischief has been brewing there. Not that this moth itself has done or can do any injury. Its work is to lay the little white eggs in fur or wool, wherever it can find a place. These eggs hatch twice (during the spring and early summer) into tiny grubs or caterpillars, and they do the mischief.

Almost the first work of the caterpillar after hatching from the egg is to eat holes in the material on which it nests. With that wool or fur it eats is spun a little sheath cocoon, and this sheath grows as the insect grows. After a while it leaves its cocoon and hatches into a moth.

The period of development depends upon the temperature. In this climate there are two hatching times in one season. But the insect is sensitive to cold, and does not develop unless the temperature is above sixty degrees. Hence has come the practice of placing furs and valuable rugs in cold storage, where, if already infected with eggs, no hatching can take place.

It behooves all home keepers to put all winter clothing away early—before these little pests get busy. In houses that are kept too warm there is danger of constant hatching of eggs, but as a general rule they do not hatch till early spring.

To prevent all moth eating, clothing should, while the days are yet cool, be thoroughly cleaned, brushed and aired in the sun and whipped so that any eggs may be dislodged. They should then be put away in some way that will keep the air from them.

Paper bags, sealed at the top, and boxes with covers sealed with strips of paper are best for furs and feathers. Newspapers and cotton cloths are excellent to wrap garments in, as moths will not touch either.

Carpets and rugs need particular attention and should be given frequent beatings in the sunlight. Many people spray all clothing with gasolene before putting away for the summer, and carpets and rugs may safely be treated in this way. Camphor and moth balls are of absolutely no use if eggs are in the garments when they are put away. The only use of camphor is that it repels the moth by its odor and no moth will go near it.

Watches and Prices

Good watches vary so greatly in price that some people are at a loss what to pay.

Just like paying for a house. You've all seen cottages that cost $1,000 that were "perfect little germs." And you have also seen houses that cost $20,000 to build.

Both were worth the money and even more.

It is the same in buying a watch. Decide what you want to pay; then go where you KNOW you can get your money's worth.

That place is here.

Potato Pan Cakes.

Pare, wash and grate eight large potatoes. Mix quickly with them two tablespoonfuls of grated bread crumbs, one scant teaspoonful of salt and the beaten yolks of two eggs. Whip the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and stir lightly into the mixture. Drop by large tablespoonfuls in a little hot butter or dripping and fry, turning as soon as one side is brown. Pile on a hot plate, spreading each with stewed fruit or marmalade. Sift sugar over the top and serve out in wedges like pie.

Braised Beef Heart.

Wash the heart very thoroughly, cutting down into the arterial openings to make sure that no blood clots remain. Trim off the tough top, then stuff with a good bread stuffing, to which chopped onion and a little sausage meat may be added to give flavor. Fasten at the top with a couple of stitches. In a hot frying pan melt two or three tablespoonfuls of beef dripping and in this brown the heart, turning often that all sides may be thoroughly and evenly colored. Transfer to a saucepan or casserole, arranging it point downward. Pour round it a pint of good soup stock, brown gravy or mixed brown and tomato sauce. Cover and simmer very gently for three hours, adding more sauce as needed. Finally uncover and place in a hot oven for twenty minutes.

MITCHELL SPOKE TO SMALL CROWD

Union Labor Did Not Turn Out to Hear Able Leader and Orator.

AN INTERESTING TALK

Union labor did not pay to John Mitchell, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and one of the most able men in the trades union movement, the tribute his years of labor and loyalty to the cause deserve and half of the small audience he addressed at the Elks' temple last night was made up of professional and business men.

Once in the course of his address Mr. Mitchell referred to the McNamara's. He read the obligation taken by union men and at its conclusion said: "Nobody could take that oath and then go out and blow up buildings." Mr. Mitchell is an orator, thoroughly grounded in the principles of the cause to which he has given his life's work and the earnest attention given him was highly complimentary.

Following his talk he held a reception at which he met many prominent men who complimented him highly on his address. The speaker was introduced by James Lechler, who said that unfortunately the world at large does not understand organized labor and that Mr. Mitchell had been asked to come here to explain it. The text of the talk was "The Philosophy, Purpose and Ideals of Trade Unionism."

Mr. Mitchell's Address.

Beginning with the time when the struggle for existence centered in the problem of production and leading on up through the time when each family consumed only what it produced and reciting the vexing problems growing out of modern factory systems that produced trade unionism, Mr. Mitchell said in part:

"In the hundreds of national trade unions that exist and the thousands of local groups into which these organizations are divided, various problems are encountered and various measures taken in each exigency. The result is a perfectly bewildering series of rules and regulations in which the ordinary man sees neither rhyme nor reason, except, perhaps, that he observes in vague outline the ever-present desire on the part of the workmen to improve their conditions and to raise their standard of life and labor. The complexity of trade unionism, however, is merely the complexity of human life itself. No matter how simple and fundamental the principles and constitution of an organization, its rules and regulations necessarily become complex as soon as they encounter the diverse conditions that characterize modern life.

"In its fundamental principles trade unionism is plain and clear and simple. It starts from the recognition of the fact that under normal conditions the individual, unorganized workman cannot bargain advantageously with the employer for the sale of his labor. Since the workingman has no money in reserve and must sell his labor immediately—since, moreover, he has no knowledge of the market and no skill in bargaining, because, finally, he has only his own labor to sell, while the employer engages hundreds or even thousands of men, and can easily do without the services of any one of them—the workingman, if bargaining on his own account and for himself alone, is at an obvious disadvantage. Trade unionism recognizes the fact that under such conditions labor becomes more and more degenerate, because the labor which the workman sells is, unlike other commodities, a thing which is of his very life and soul and being. In the individual contract between a powerful employer and a single workman the laborer will secure the worst of the bargain. He is progressively debased because of wages insufficient to buy nourishing food, because of hours too long to permit of sufficient rest, because of conditions of work destructive of moral, mental and physical health, and finally because of danger from accident and disease, which kill off the workingman or prematurely age him.

"There can be no permanent prosperity to the wage-earner, no real and lasting progress, no consecutive improvement in conditions until the principle is firmly and fully established that in industrial life, especially in enterprises on a large scale, the settlement of wages, hours of labor, and all conditions of work must be made between employers and workmen collectively, and not between employers and workmen individually.

Fight on Equal Basis.

"It is my firm conviction—and what is more important, it is the firm conviction of the great majority of the workingmen of this country—that the ideal of trade unionism will be attained when a strong organization of labor, supplied with an ample reserve fund and embracing every workman in the trade, shall find itself face to face with an equally strong association of employers, embracing every employer in the trade. The two will then meet on the basis of approximate equality. The result of such a state of affairs—which we are now rapidly approaching—will be that an equitable contract can be arrived at, thus firmly establishing peace and prosperity in American industry.

"The ideal of trade unionism is to combine in one organization all the men employed at a given trade and to demand and secure for each and all of them a definite minimum standard of wages, hours of labor and conditions of work. By this is not meant that the wages of all men shall be the same, but merely that equal pay shall be given for equal work.

"In the pursuit of this ideal the workingman has sought strength in union and has associated himself in labor federations, through which he strives to secure—

"A minimum wage which shall enable men and women to live in a manner conformable to American standards, to educate their children, and to make adequate provision against sickness and old age;

"The eight-hour workday, which gives opportunity for the cultivation of home life, the enjoyment of books, music, and wisely employed leisure;

"Legislation making it unlawful for children of tender years and frail physique to be employed in gainful pursuits;

"Laws providing for the safeguarding of the lives and limbs of workers engaged in dangerous occupations, and for compensation for injuries sustained in the course of employment;

"The progressive improvement of the sanitary working and housing conditions of the wage-earners; and finally,

"The preservation of the constitutional guarantees of trial by jury, free speech, and a free press.

Not Organized for Strikes.

"There is no one phase of our industrial life so much discussed and so little understood by the average citizen as the strike. To understand the moral influence of a justifiable strike it is necessary to consider the ideals of the working people, and to understand the strike itself it is important that answer be made to some of the stereotyped criticisms directed against the strike, many of which are the outgrowth of prejudice or of unreliable information.

"It is often charged that trade unions desire strikes because, it is alleged, they are organized for that purpose. This, however, is not true. The trade union is organized for the purpose of securing better conditions of life and labor for its members, and when necessary—and usually when unavoidable—a strike is resorted to as a means to that end, but it can no more be said that trade unions desire strikes because they are equipped for them, than that the United States government desires war because it has an army and a navy. The prevalence of strikes, as of all dramatic occurrences, is grossly exaggerated. Tragic, dramatic, or startling events are so impressed upon the mind that we fail to realize that they are highly exceptional. While we may read daily of the threatened outbreak of strikes or the threatened declaration of lockouts, the average decuman engaged in trades in which strikes occur loses less than one day each year in this manner. A strike lasts, generally speaking, about twenty-three days, but the average employer peacefully carries on his business for thirty years without the interruption of a strike.

"The statement is often made that workingmen should never strike when the injury to be avoided or the gain to be secured is less than the cost of the strike, but if men were not willing, at least occasionally, to make great sacrifices to prevent even small losses, many employers would take advantage of their unwillingness to strike. We hear it stated frequently that by a strike workingmen lose more money in a month than they may hope to gain in years. It seems to me that such a judgment, which is based on a mere calculation of dollars and cents, is inherently wrong because incomplete. One might just as well impugn the common sense of the farmers of Lexington because the cost of a war with Great Britain was a hundred-fold greater than the whole amount of taxation without representation. There is more in a justifiable strike than wages or hours of labor, and a strike may be a loss from a money point of view and a great gain in a higher and nobler sense. Said Abraham Lincoln, referring to the strike of the New England shoe workers, in a speech delivered at Hartford, Conn., in 1860: 'Thank God, we have a system of labor where there can be a strike!'

Violence Is Magnified.

"There has been disseminated a widespread impression that bloodshed and disorder, riot and lawlessness, are invariable accompaniments of industrial disputes. As a matter of fact, the amount of violence actually committed is greatly magnified. Whatever there is should be visited with the strong disapproval of public opinion. If I believed that the success of the trade union movement depended in any degree upon the commission of illegal acts, I should not hesitate for one moment to sever my relations with it. But the justifiable practices and the splendid principles of trade unionism should not be assailed on account of occasional violence or because of illegal acts committed in its name, just as the church is not to be condemned because some of its adherents have been guilty occasionally of wrongdoing.

"It is, nevertheless, admitted on all sides that strikes are attended with great losses, hardships and sacrifices, not only to the participants, but also to the general public; but as through the development of trade unionism, employers and workingmen are brought into closer relationship and thus become better acquainted with each other and more familiar with the business in which they are jointly interested, as each learns to respect the rights of the other and to recognize his own responsibilities, strikes and lockout will become less frequent and industry will be conducted on a more stable basis.

"It is frequently charged against the union that in policy and practice it reduces to a dead level all of the men employed at a given trade, that the most efficient and the most ambitious are reduced to the level of the incompetent and the sluggard. This charge originated with the opponents of trade unionism; it has been repeated, I regret to say, by well-meaning but misinformed friends. It has no foundation in fact. The trade union fixes a minimum, but not a maximum wage, and the employer is at perfect liberty to reward the especially ambitious or efficient workman by paying him higher wages than are fixed by the union. The union does, however, object to one workman being rewarded by an employer, when the reward is extracted from the pay envelope of another workman."

In conclusion the speaker said:

"In the pursuit of its ideals trade unionism has justified its existence by good works and high purposes. At one time viewed with suspicion by workman and employer alike, it has gained the affection of one and the enlightened esteem of the other. Slowly and gradually it has progressed toward the fulfillment of its ideals. It has elevated the standard of living of the American workman and secured for him higher wages and more leisure. It has increased efficiency, diminished accidents, averted disease, kept the children at school, raised the moral tone of the factory, and improved the relations between employer and employed. In doing so it has stood upon the broad ground of justice and humanity. It has defended the weak against the strong, the exploited against the exploiter; it has stood for efficiency rather than cheapness, for the producer rather than the production; for the man rather than the dollar. It has voiced the claims of the unborn as of the living, and has stayed the hand of that ruthless, near-sighted profit-seeking that would destroy future generations as men wantonly cut down forests. It has aided and educated the newly arrived immigrant, protected the toil of women and children, and fought the battles of the poor in attic, mine and sweatshop. It has conferred benefits, made sacrifices, and, unfortunately, committed errors. I do not conceal from myself that trade unionism has made its mistakes. No institution fully attains its ideal, and men stumble and fall in their upward striving; but I submit to the judgment of every unselfish, impartial mind that the trade union, like every other institution, should be judged by the good it does, and I ask if there is a man so blind to the truth that he will not confess that the trade union movement has done much to elevate the men, women and children of labor, and to protect the great mass of the people who are least able to protect themselves.

"The trade union movement is primarily and fundamentally a moral movement. While attention is attracted to it by its strikes and its struggles, yet the battles it fights in defense of the poor and the helpless are but phases of the greater movement that is making for the mental, the moral and the physical development of all our people.

"There will be, of course, recessions and progressions of the trade union movement, like the ebb and flow of the tide; the movement will be helped on in days of prosperity and retarded in days of adversity. There can be no doubt, however, that the movement is onward and upward. It takes generations to implant dignity in the human breast, but once implanted it is ineradicable.

"Said that great, humane philosopher, Thomas Carlyle: 'This that they call the organization of labor is the universal vital problem of the world.'"

The Best Cough Syrup is Easily Made at Home

Costs Little and Acts Quickly. Money Refunded If It Fails.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup, and saves you about $2.00 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It stops obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—in a hurry, and is splendid for sore lungs, asthma, croup, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Tastes good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative—both excellent features.

Pinex, as perhaps you know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and the other natural healing pine elements.

No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this recipe, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe. This plan has often been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you.

ANSON SAYS THE COLTS KNEW HOW

Insists That Inside Ball of Today Was No Better Than His.

OLD PLAYERS BEST

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 29.—Like the ex-first citizen of the land, you simply can't keep Captain Adrian Constantine Anson out of public prints. The moment it seems that the former manager of the Chicago Nationals, saver of the league, pool and billiard player, bowler, semi-pro magnate and present actor, shows signs of being temporarily forgotten, up he looks as serenely as ever. This time he has a few views as regards present-day ball players, comparing them to the stars of yesterday.

"You can talk your head off about the present system of inside ball," said Cap, "but I've yet to see any more perfect play than we used to put up on the Colts. I have yet to see the pitcher as great as Amos Rusie and the catcher as great as Buck Ewing. They tell me that the game has changed since the spitball made its appearance. I'll admit I didn't think much of that delivery when it came out, but I've changed my mind somewhat. Yet I bet I could put on an old uniform tomorrow and hit any of the spitball pitchers, or at least I believe I could.

"You don't see much of the old-time slugging, when the ball went over the fence like a house afire. Bill Lange came the closest of latter-day players to the old-timers, and I suppose many call Lange an old-timer now. Ed Walsh gives a glimpse of the slugging type when he lands on the ball. If Ed were not a pitcher and had more practice batting, he would come somewhere near what Delahanty, Sam Thompson and the others were.

"I've frequently been asked to name the ten greatest pitchers the game ever developed. I could do so if given a little time, but there would not be many of the present day twirlers in the bunch. I'd name Rusie and Radbourne; I'd put John Clarkson in and Ed Walsh and Christy Mathewson. That's as far as I'll go at present, but it gives you a glimpse of some of the best.

"Rusie, to my way of thinking, was the greatest pitcher of them all. He had terrific speed, wonderful control and head work. You were up against something when you faced him. Clarkson was great, greater even than given credit of being. I've watched him year in and year out, and he always was delivering.

"They talk about Johnny Kling being the greatest catcher who ever lived until many actually believe it now. But Kling couldn't throw with Ewing, couldn't hit like him and couldn't run the bases as well. Charley Bennett, of the Detroits, was a good fielding catcher, but never a wonder with the bat.

THREE MORE AT WHEELING.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 29.—Chester King, formerly with the Wheeling club and forced to quit on account of ill health, has signed for this season. Richard and Henry Thomas, local amateurs, and a pitcher and third baseman respectively, have siged with the club.

Manager Anderson is in the city and is endeavoring to put through some deals to strengthen his club.

ECLIPSE LOST TO W. & D. IN SERIES

Department Store Men Win First and Second and Drop Third.

PRINTERS TAKE TWO

After dropping the first and second games of the Fort Wayne Bowling association series at the Metropolitan alleys last night to the Wolf & Dessauer squad, the Eclipse five went out after the third and captured it by a small margin. All of the games were fast and interesting.

Tony Haas counted 206 in his first game and it stood for high all the way and only George Harkenrider came close when he tabbed 202 in the second. Haas won high average.

With the only double on the Eclipse side to his credit, John Beckes won the high average and high score with Centlivre second. The scores:

BOXING IS LAWFUL.

South Bend Mayor So Informs Ministerial Association.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 29.—A united effort on the part of the press and the ministers of South Bend to force Mayor Charles L. Goetz to prohibit pugilistic contests came to naught when a committee appointed by the Ministerial association passed three fruitless hours wrangling with the mayor last night. The latter took the position that under the law it was impossible to stop such bouts as are being given here and that the city would be liable for damages if the boxing exhibitions were stopped.

WAGNER IS SRONG FOR DONLIN

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 29. — "Yessir! While I am not overly fond of making guesses and running the risk of being called a 'false prophet,' I believe that Pittsburg, with Mike Donlin playing regularly, is going to win the National league pennant this season."

Honus Wagner, brimming over with cheerfulness, stated that, to his way of thinking, the officials of the Pittsburg club turned in a masterly bit of work when they traded Vin Campbell for Mike Donlin. And this, despite the fact that Campbell's warmest friend among the Pirate players was none other than the great shortstop himself.

Honus, as he stated the matter himself, never allows friendship or private feelings to interefere with business; his idea is that a ball player's first duty is loyalty to his employers and that all else follows.

The writer found the Carnegie German pottering around a dismembered automobile in a little garage near the Wagnerian residence in Railroad street extention, Carnegie. Attired in a rusty brown shirt, a pair of greasy trousers and a pair of muddy shoes, his hands and face besmeared with grease and oil, John Henry talked while he worked, stopping every now and then to lend force to a remark he wished to drive home in a telling manner.

Every once in a while he would wave his right hand, on the middle finger of which, despite the grease and grime, could be seen glittering a rich diamond ring—a ring set with thre stones valued at nearly $1,000.

"I wear this ring," said Honus, "because I am afraid it will be lost if I allow it to lie around the house or the garage. Sometimes it gets dirty and sometimes I hit it with a hammer, but when it's on my finger I know I still have it." Then he got back to baseball.

"There is no doubt in my mind but what Donlin will prove to be a considerable help to the Pittsburg club. Mike is a grand player and a dangerous hitter. I have always admired him, and no matter in what position Manager Clarke decides to play him I am satisfied Mike will make good."

GOODMAN WANTS PACKEY.

"JACK" GOODMAN.

Jack Goodman, the clever Eastern lightweight pugilist, is hot on the trail of Packey McFarland, for a return match. Jack suffered a knockout at the hands of the Chicago scrapper several months ago, and since then has been grooming himself carefully in the hops of another clash with the speedy boy from the stockyards.

ANDERSON AFTER PENDRY.

Wheeling Manager Seeks Third Baseman at Zanesville.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 29.—E. J. "Goat" Anderson, the new manager of the Wheeling baseball club, arrived in the city yesterday from South Bend, Ind. He got in touch with the directors of the local baseball company relative to the purchase of the surplus players on the local roll. He is very anxious to secure the services of Third Baseman Jack Pendry, and if possible, one or two other players.

The directors could not give him any satisfaction, as they have left it to Manager Kelly to do as he likes with the making up of the team and disposing of any players. Manager Anderson stated that things in Wheeling have begun to look very promising, and he looks for a successful year. Mr. Anderson left for Wheeling at noon today.

THREE BROTHERS IN THE GAME.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 29.—Three of the four Cain brothers, famous Chandlersville ball players, will be in professional baseball this season, and all with the same club—the Portsmouth team in the Ohio State league. The Portsmouth club purchased Emmett and Homer Cain from the Lancaster club last season, and Tuesday it was announced that Thurman Cain, their brother, had signed with the Portsmouth club, too, for the coming season. This is believed to establish a new record.

Thurman Cain now is teaching school in Columbus and Emmett is attending school in the same city. Homer Cain has been keeping in condition on the farm, three miles northwest of Chandlersville. The youngest boy, Layton Cain, has been keeping him company there. Layton is said to be some ball player, also, and he will go out in another year or so, it is expected.

The Portsmouth club now has five former Muskingum college players engaged, three of them being the Cain boys, with Third Baseman Myers and Pitcher Burr the other two. Homer Cain was tried out as a pitcher and outfielder by the Athletics in 1910 and Emmett supplied on the infield for two games here last season. Both Homer and Emmett were drafted by the Columbus American association club last fall. The draft of Emmett was disallowed, while Homer was returned to Portsmouth for more seasoning.

QUINN GOT WORST OF TRADE.

Bobby Quinn, president of the Akron club, is wondering whether he got stung on the only deal made at the Central league meeting. Quinn traded Pitcher Doyle to Terre Haute for Pitcher Harry Billiard. Shortly after making the deal Quinn picked up a paper and read that Billiard was critically ill with appendicitis. "Guess I struck a snag that time," Bobby remarked. "But if Billiard pulls through all right I'll not regret the deal."

DOES NOT WIN A FLAG IN WINTER

Connie Mack is Not Making Any Claims During the Training Season.

TALKS ABOUT TEAMS

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 29.—Cornelius McGillicuddy, better known as Connie Mack, the most imposing figure in baseball, is here with his Philadelphia American league advance squad for spring training. Mack is one of the few managers who will make no pennant claims. He dismisses all queries with the remark "You can't win pennants with snow on the ground." Instead of claiming the flag he predicts that the coming American league race will be the best and closest in major league history.

The clever Athletics' manager is anything but a blowhard or windjammer and never tries to win pennants in the winter.

"I never won a championship flag with the snow on the ground," said the boss of the world's champions. "Some people believe in claiming everything in sight, going on the theory that it is a good plan to try and bluff the other fellows into submission. But I've believed it's best to saw wood and claim nothing.

"The Cubs were strong favorites over the Athletics in 1910, but we beat them to a frazzle and the Giants went to the post favorites over my team last year and again we walked home with the bacon.

"You can say for me, however, that I think the American league championship race is going to be a hummer, the best in history in fact. New York, Chicago, Detroit, Boston and Cleveland all look like pennant contenders against my club. Then I look for St. Louis to improve and give Washington a battle royal. Jack Knoght will strengthen Washington and George Stovall will help Wallace a whole lot.

"The Browns improved like the mischief toward the latter part of 1911," continued Mack. "They fought us to a finish on the last trip east. Allison and Hamilton both twirled great ball against Philadelphia. I think Hamilton is a very promising young pitcher.

"The new managers in the American league will add interest to the championship race. Wolverton is already a big favorite in New York, Callahan has the Chicago fans with him to a man. Griffith is strong in Washington and Jake Stahl of Boston, is a sure winner. As for Harry Davis, take it straight from me he'll make good with Cleveland sure as shooting."

WANTS NINE GAMES IN SERIES.

Connie Mack Thinks It Would be a Good Idea to Play Two More.

San Antonio, Texas., Feb. 29.—The movement to extend the world's series to nine games instead of seven has found an ardent supporter in Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics.

"I favor nine games," he said, "because the result would be more satisfactory to the fans as regards the merits of competing teams. It would also help to kill that absurd belief by some people that games are fixed in advance."

ARE AFTER JOE RAIDY.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 29.—It is rumored here that Joe Raidy, former Zanesville manager, can have the management of either the Traverse City or Boyne City clubs of the Michigan State league, if he cares for it.

A SENSATIONAL CLUBBER.

ART BUES

"Art" Bues, the sensational clubber formerly with the Seattle team, in the Coast League, is burning things up in the training camp with McGraw's Giants. It is almost certain that Bues will obtain a regular position with the champions before the regular season is very far advanced. He is a natural hitter.

YOST HAS FAITH IN THE CENTRAL

Canton President Believes His Club Will Stick Next Season.

EXPECT THE PRUNING

Canton, O., Feb. 29.—The length of existence of the 12-club Central league in the world of baseball is a subject now being discussed in every city on the circuit. The question regarding the disintegration or added solidity of the organization at the close of the approaching season is one of interest to magnates and writers.

Some of the experts entertain strong beliefs that expenditures in some of the cities will be too heavy for the individual owners or the stock companies to bear, that the receipts will fall far below the required mark and that in the end the circuit will be reduced to eight clubs that finish with the showing in the matter of attendance.

"The survival of the fittest is a proposition fully understood," said President Yost of the Canton club. "We are prepared to enter the coming engagement confident that Canton's baseball public will support the club, confident that fandom will have the opportunity to see the team in the midst of what promises to be the most exciting race in the history of minor league baseball."

From headquarters comes the tale that the reduction of the circuit is a certainty at the end of the 1912 campaign. The writer declares that he has information on good authority that friendship of club owners, sentiment, good or bad hotel accommodations or length of affiliation will be taken into account when the time comes for pruning. He says that the one factor will be the incontrovertible figures at the turnstiles.

In other words, the eight clubs that deliver the money at the gate will comprise the Central league of the future, and that the other four cities will be left to shift for themselves.

CATCHER WILL NOT SIGN.

Youngstown, Feb. 29.—Catcher Mully Miller, for whom the Youngstown magnates gave $450 to Sioux City, was paid $250 a month last year in the Western league, and under the Central salary agreement it will be impossible for the locals to allow him that sum. The 1912 contract has not been signed by Miller. Unless Miller signs up pretty soon he may be suspended. The salary offered Miller by the locals is not far from his former stipend, but is within the salary limits of the league.

LYCEUM A. A. IS AN EASY WINNER

Soldier Boys Go Down in Defeat at St. Patrick's Gymnasium.

A hundred people saw the Lyceum A. A. basketball team beat Company D. last night at the Lyceum gymnasium and applauded the players for their good work.

The final score was twenty-eight to ten, but the game was more interesting that the result would ordinarily indicate as both teams showed improved work in all departments.

Weaver was good in his team play but he shot in hard luck all evening and the honors went to Brown who shot nine field goals. There was no umpire in the game and the referee had a hard time keeping tab on the players and the game grew rough at times. The line-up and score:

Lyceum A. A. (28). Company D. (10).

|---|---|---|
| Brown | R. F. | Bird |
| Weaver | L. F. | Drewitt |
| Blee | C. | Kiser |
| Welsh | R. G. | Haas |
| Tiernan-Flemion | R. G. | Howard |

Field goals—Brown 9, Weaver 3, Blee, Flemion, Drewitt 3. Free throws—Bird 4.

SAINTS ARE AFTER 'EM.

Working Hard to Get Ready for the South Bend Players.

St. Mary's Athletics have a good record for the season in basketball and they want to preserve it to the end which is not far away and for that reason they are working hard for the battle Sunday afternoon with the South Bend N. H. S.

If this club is all that is said of it then the Saints have some task on their hands at Odeon hall. However, the earnest play and good team work of the local squad has impressed the basketball public with its ability to win and the men will go into the game with plenty of good, husky rooters behind them.

BALDWIN TO CLASH WITH LEACH CROSS

OPEN FIRE ON BOND ISSUE; DEMAND VOTE

importance is first completed, and all of them assailed the bond issue without the expressed approval of the people.

The new park board law came in for denunciation and it was declared that the new Allen county representatives to the legislature would go pledged to work for its repeal. Incidentally, the meeting gave expression to its sentiments on track elevation in a resolution introduced by Anselm Fuelber.

James E. Graham was elected chairman of the evening, with Jesse Brosius as secretary, and the speakers included W. H. LaTourrette, Anselm Fuelber, Harry Lowery, Jesse Brosius and ex-Mayor W. J. Hosey.

Bond Issue Resolution.

The bond issue resolution, introduced by Jesse Brosius, was adopted as follows:

Whereas, The people of the city of Fort Wayne are about to be denied the right of franchise on the so-called $200,000 bond issue; and

Whereas, They should be granted that privilege by the common council of said city of expressing themselves through the ballot box as to whether such bonds shall be issued or not;

Therefore, We, as citizens of said city, in mass meeting assembled, do hereby pass the following resolutions:

Resolved, That, as citizens of the city of Fort Wayne, Indiana, we demand of the common council of said city the right of franchise and the privilege to vote on this so-called $200,000 bond issue and be it further resolved that we, as citizens of this city, condemn any and all efforts to fasten this indebtedness upon the citizens of the city of Fort Wayne, Indiana, without their sanction and without the majority having so declared by their franchise, as unjust, unwarranted and without precedent. This because we believe that the city of Fort Wayne belongs to the people and that the people should rule.

Made It Still Stronger.

Mr. Fuelber's track elevation resolution was adopted as follows:

Whereas, It is in the interest of the city of Fort Wayne and its business men, taxpayers and residents, that all dangerous railroad crossings be eliminated and all obstacles which interfere with the free traffic between the north and south parts of said city, be it

Resolved, That we hereby demand our board of public works and common council not to enter into any agreement with the Pennsylvania company in regard to track elevation, unless the elevation of the tracks east of Calhoun street and the opening of Clinton street under the railroad tracks is agreed to by said Pennsylvania company.

In its original form the resolution "requested" the board of public works, etc., but George Jaap was on his feet in an instant with an objection to the wording of the resolution.

"The board of works is the servant of the people," declared Mr. Jaap, "and we have the right not to request but to demand that they listen to us. I move to amend by substituting 'demand' for 'request.'" Mr. Jaap's amendment was accepted without question.

Sentiment Was Cheered.

As the meeting was called to order a banner inscribed "Let the People Rule" was placed above the speaker's platform, and the audience responded with vigorous applause. When Mr. Graham was chosen to preside he announced his understanding of the question for discussion to involve solely whether or no the city authorities ought to submit the bond proposition to an election of the people; that the advisability of the river bank improvement was not in issue and that discussion along that line would not be permitted.

Mr. LaTourette, the first speaker, had scarcely spoken a hundred words until it was plain that he proposed to attack the idea of river frontage improvement, and Chairman Graham halted him on the ground that he was outside the question at issue. There was a colloquy between the two, Mr. LaTourette insisting that it was necessary to discuss the river bank issue in order to lay the groundwork for his opposition to the bond issue. There began to be manifestations of impatience about the room, and Mr. LaTourette was told to proceed. This let down the bars for the attack upon both the bond issue and the question of improving the river banks, and it went forward in lively fashion.

Need Other Things First.

Mr. LaTourette declared at the outset for the repeal of the new park board law and insisted that the park board should be placed on the same basis as the board of public works with reference to public improvements. He insisted that the court house bond issue did not furnish a precedent for a bond issue for river bank purchase by the city council, and asserted his belief that other improvements were needed before the river banks were improved. Some of these he enumerated—a better garbage disposal system, extension of the lighting plant and a sewage disposal system.

The speaker then presented an array of figures to support his contention that the borrowing capacity of Fort Wayne is today under the constitutional limit but $160,000, but that the advocates of the bond issue dodge this by the questionable procedure of deducting present cash on hand to meet bond payments. The present bonded indebtedness of Fort Wayne, he said, is $560,000, and he went into the history of them in entertaining fashion.

Some Bond History.

He cited the $100,000 voted to the Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw railroad in 1868, in consideration of the location of the shops in Fort Wayne, "and," said Mr. LaTourette, "there are no greater number of employes in those shops today than you'll find in a cobbler shop down town." Laughter greeting his comparison. There had been $100,000, he said, voted to the Grand Rapids & Indiana, which never laid a rail inside the city. A similar grant to the Cincinnati, Richmond & Fort Wayne road was also cited, with net results the same. These bonds, he said, drew 6 per cent interest. After 25 years but $1,000 was paid of the principal and the bonds were reissued at 4½ per cent and are still standing. The city has paid on them in 43 years, he said, the sum of $670,000, and it still owes $200,000. He referred to the South Wayne bonds, assumed when that town became a part of the city. The waterworks bonds met his approval, because, he said, they were issued for a purpose which really does the city some good.

"I'm objecting to the issue of bonds for something we can do without," exclaimed Mr. LaTourette. The school city bonds were referred to, as was also the city's share of the court house bonds, and he insisted that the park board already has enough money in its hands for its reasonable needs. Touching upon the value of some of the river frontage, Mr. LaTourette charged that some of it had been stricken from the tax duplicate as valueless for taxation, and yet this is what was proposed to purchase along with the rest of it. "I want the common council to understand that we want a chance to vote on this question," declared Mr. LaTourette in conclusion.

Other Speakers Heard.

Editor Anselm Fuelber, of the Abendpost, declared himself in favor of improvements, but asserted that if certain classes were to be financially benefited by the improvements they ought to pay for it instead of placing a tax on the whole city by a bond issue.

Harry Lowery, a deputy sheriff, attacked the park board law as an iniquitous piece of legislation, and warned its friends that they must act quickly in development under it, because whoever went to the next legislature from Allen county would go pledged to work for its repeal. He charged the evening newspapers with having refused to publish notices of the call for the meeting yesterday, despite the fact that The Sentinel on page 6, column 7, contained a notice of the meeting, and charged that this failure was due to the fact that the newspapers feared the loss of advertising by opposing those who favor the bond issue.

Letter From C. W. Orr.

When Jesse Brosius was presented he first read the letter sent by C. W. Orr, who had been called out of the city and was unable to attend the meeting. Mr. Orr in his letter, addressed to Mr. Brosius and Mr. LaTourette, said:

Gentlemen:—Being called out of town for several days I will be unable to attend your meeting Wednesday evening.

A great majority of the people love the beautiful and I believe I am not an exception. I believe that the great majority of the people particularly love the beauties of nature. I believe that this love for the beautiful of nature has been the means of permitting the encouragement of the movement for civic improvement as many of the home-owners have given evidence in the beautifying of their lawns and gardens, their willingness to pay for sidewalks, sewers, and street pavements that are now considered absolute necessities in a modern city and for the convenience of the people.

In order to preserve the lawns, to keep clean the streets and flush the sewers we need an ample supply of water, and water being the most important thing now needed is the one article the supply of which is limited.

Until I can sprinkle my lawn in the summer time with water used through a meter without being stopped by a policeman, until I am satisfied that we have water sufficient to let it run so as to keep the pipes from freezing in very severly cold weather without endangering the welfare of the city, in not having sufficient water supply to extend proper fire protection to our numerous factories, business houses and the homes, I cannot look with favor upon any scheme which will rob the city of the credit necessary to make the extension of our water-works system.

While we all like the beautiful, while we all like the luxuries of life, yet I believe that the first duty that we owe, not only to ourselves, but our homes, is the proper preservation of what we now have. What we owe to our children, and our children's children is that we should not place the yoke of bondage upon their necks so that they shall curse the memory of us. Why should we mortgage the future of our people by putting a burden upon them just so that we may ourselves now realize the benefit—for them to pay for? If we want to satisfy our sense of pleasure in seeing beautiful things, why not buy them and pay for them instead of merely making an I. O. U. for some one else to pay?

If those in favor of this bond issue see such a great benefit for future generations and expect to be called "blessed" for obnding them, why would it not be better to deserve that future blessing by now paying for the thing itself and give it in fee simple, title clear, instead of being mortgaged for what it is worth? It is not much of a gift in merely transferring something which the receiver has to pay for.

Until our water-works system is of adequate size to furnish ample fire protection to our present factories and those which may desire to locate here, until our sewer system is ample to take care of our needs, I cannot favor the bonding of the city's credit for luxuries, particularly when much of the land to be purchased has given evidence of its undesirability in the fact that it has never been used.

While beauty is to be desired, I have always pointed to other things as the strong points in our own Fort Wayne. I have referred to our enterprising factories, the jobbing houses, thrifty, up-to-date merchants, happy, contented, thrifty home-owners, our commodious churches and schools, our convenience in getting about our own city, our accommodations for getting everywhere, so that I have mailed to people interested in Fort Wayne or in their own communities, at my own expense, hundreds and hundreds of copies of the Fort Wayne Commercial Club Year Book, issued during my presidential term. I have also sent hundreds of the beautiful booklets, "Indiana's Busiest, Happiest City," of which I had printed a large special edition, published in 1911.

I am proud of our city and a "plugger" for Fort Wayne, but what I regard of supreme importance is her solidity, her good name and that she shall be a healthful city of home-owners and prosperous business.

Why not do the things that are needful instead of those which will detract from our ability to do what is necessary?

Yours truly, C. W. ORR.

Says People Are Against It.

Mr. Brosius declared his belief, judging from the expressions of those to whom he had talked, that the rank and file of the people of Fort Wayne are overwhelmingly against the bond issue, and he devoted some attention to recounting the manner in which, he said, apparent endorsement of the project had been secured from the ward civic improvement associations. In Lakeside, Mr. Brosius said, it was not put to a vote at the first meeting, and the second meeting, he said, showed that the advocates had carefully planned to pass it, asserting that citizens were denied the right to speak there. In Lakeside today, said Mr. Brosius, people are opposed to it 2 to 1. Neither Spy Run nor Wayne Heights have gone on record. The east side, he said, was on record "in a way." The Sixth ward had held two meetings. One was held in a church hall, and he said he had been told that half the audience walked away in disgust. Another, held at a private residence, where only those favorable to the bond issue were invited. The Nebraska section had held a few meetings, but the advocates dare not bring it to a vote there, and they had never called the promised mass meeting for its discussion at the Washington school. The Seventh and Tenth wards association, he said, had never, to the best of his knowledge, endorsed the project.

Situation in Bloomingdale.

"In the Ninth ward—Bloomingdale," said Mr. Brosius, "the project was given the most decisive endorsement it has received, but I want to tell you how it was secured. There are people in Bloomingdale who will agree to almost anything to secure a bridge at Barthold street and the opening of St. Mary's avenue under the railroad. The bond advocates got around while I was asleep at the switch and made them believe they had to come to them for improvements. There are people in Bloomingdale today who think the park board controls the mayor, the board of works, the county commissioners and the whole caboodle, and that if they want improvements of any sort they will have to cater to them in this bond issue business."

Mr. Brosius declared he was in favor of civic improvement, but opposes action without the sanction of the people at an election. He did not agree with Mr. Lowery that the newspapers had treated the opponents of the bond issue unfairly, and specifically mentioned The Sentinel, the News and the Journal-Gazette as having published announcements of the indignation meeting. Turning for a moment to the municipal lighting plant, Mr. Brosius declared it unfair to the people generally to furnish current free for the ornamental lamp posts.

"There's one instance of the operation of your 'city beautiful' idea," said Mr. Brosius, "and there, if you don't stop it, goes your municipal lighting plant."

Mr. Brosius closed with the declaration that if any of the wards wanted to call indignation meetings upon the bond proposition, he and his associates in the fight would do all in their power to aid them.

Mr. Hosey Final Speaker.

Ex-Mayor Hosey was introduced as the final speaker of the evening. "If I were a councilman," said Mr. Hosey in opening, "I would not assume the responsibility of voting a bond issue of $200,000 upon the people of Fort Wayne to continue for a period of 20 or 40 years without submitting the question to a vote of the people." His statement was greeted by cheers.

The proposed river bank beautification, he said, is but the beginning of an improvement, the end of which cannot yet be seen. He cited the improvement of the little strip near the Main street bridge by T. F. Thieme at a cost of some $6,000, and said that while he did not know that this plan was to be followed throughout, if such were the case the cost would be something like $350,000 per mile for the eighteen miles of river frontage in Fort Wayne. He did not oppose sane park development, he said, but he contended against the plan of assessment provided in the new park law, and insisted that the well-established rules of assessment and payment followed in the matter of street improvements ought to be adhered to in the matter of parkways and boulevards and river drives, which were, after all, but another name for the same sort of public thoroughfares as are streets.

The adoption of the resolutions, without a dissenting vote, followed Ex-Mayor Hosey's remarks.

Covington, Ind., Feb. 29.—Thomas H. Bodine, age forty-two, met instant death at 7 o'clock last evening, when, on opening the door to his furnace in the basement, he received a shock, caused by an electric light wire, which had fallen across the furnace and charged it. He was thrown backward by the shock and, after one call to his wife, died. He was accompanied to the basement by his ten year old son, who ran at once to his mother.

Mr. Bodine was a prominent grain dealer, owning two elevators here, one at Foster and one at State Line. He was secretary of the Covington Fair association and president of the Fountain county council. He was the owner of the famous pacer May Day. A widow and two children survive.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

MOVING INTO THE NEW SHOP

Testing Department First in Big Building on Broadway.

When M. S. Willson, foreman of the incandescent department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, comes home from Grand Forks, Dakota, where he and Mrs. Willson are visiting their sons, he will find his department in new quarters at the big plant on Broadway. The work of moving the testing department into the new building commenced today and next week all testing work will be performed in the new quarters. For this department the south end of the first floor of the new four story building is being fitted up on a much more extensive scale than was the old testing room. Mr. Willson and his assistants will have the distinction of being the first to occupy the new building and the men take considerable pride in being accorded that honor. The personnel of the force at present is as follows: M. S. Willson, foreman; Raymond Hoffman, assistant foreman; Russ Harruff, James Garman, C. F. Braun, Earle Watterman, Maurice Steele, H. Elliott and George Buck. As soon as the present testing room is vacated it will be remodeled and added to the blacksmith department, which adjoins it on the south.

REPORT BETTER CONDITIONS.

Bowser Men Bring Good News From North and South.

S. B. Bechtel and C. A. Dunkelburg have returned from business trips in the interest of S. F. Bowser & Co. and are feeling pretty jubilant over the turn for the better that is taking place in the business situation as it affects the big oil pump company. Mr. Bechtel has been making a tour of the southern states and Mr. Dunkelburg had been in Canada. In the territory each visited the winter has been exceedingly severe and had a great influence on trade. There has been a decided change within the past two weeks and salesmen report good prospects for still better business as spring and summer months advance. The increased number of orders that are coming to the main office from the branches indicate as much and show that the salesmen are already quite active in all parts of the country. The Bowser people expect to do the largest business in 1912 in the history of the plant.

GETS GOOD PROMOTION.

Frank Cousar Goes to New York Central Lines.

Frank C. Cousar will this evening retire from the position of chief time clerk at the works of the Kerr Murray Manufacturing company and will report Monday morning at the offices of the New York Central lines in Cleveland for assignment. It is understood that he will be assigned to the inspection department, probably with headquarters in Chicago. The change is a decided promotion for the young man. It not only affords a better salary than does the position he is about to relinquish, but it puts him in better position for promotion. Frank Cousar is a son of Charles A. Cousar, of the Bass foundry. He has been with the Kerr Murray people about three years. Before going to that concern he was employed in a clerical capacity at the Bass works.

DISPATCHING BY TELEPHONE.

Lake Shore Starts New System Today.

The Lake Shore this morning commenced dispatching all its trains on a telephone system, the linemen having completed the installation of phones last evening. The work of installation has been in progress for over a year and has been referred to from time to time in these columns. For awhile all of the telegraph instruments will remain in tact and may be used occasionally, when occasion requires it, but the chief business of the dispatchers will be through the telephones hereafter. The headquarters of the dispatcher in chief and the trainmaster are at Hillsdale, Mich.

LOOKING FOR HEIRS.

(Huntington Herald.)

Inquiry is being made among the Zents of this county regarding the identity of Henry H. Zent, who was supposed to have resided either in this county or Whitley county until about two months ago, when he went to Mississippi by way of Fort Wayne. There is but one Harry Zent residing in this county as far as can be ascertained. He is a retired farmer living in Roanoke at last accounts. A search is being made in order to find his son Eugene, for whom $1,500 insurance is waiting.

Harry H. Zent, forty-two, was struck by a railway engine a few days ago and killed at Hattiesburg, Miss. The unfortunate man left Fort Wayne two months ago. Inquiry among the Zents in the south part of Whitley county failed to identify either of the men named. The information of the death came to H. D. McClellan, of the First National bank of Columbia City.

It was learned later that Col. Sam Zent at one time in the tinshop and hardware business in Columbia City, had a son named Henry, and that son had a son named Eugene. Hence the supposition now is that the deceased Henry H. Zent was a son of Col. Zent, and father of Eugene, to whom he left his $1,500 life insurance.

BIG FOUR CONSOLIDATIONS.

Tomorrow three master mechanics on the Big Four system will be retired and the territory over which they have had jurisdiction will be consolidated with J. P. Luscomb the master mechanic. Mr. Luscomb has been master mechanic of the Toledo and Ohio Central, with headquarters in Bucyrus, several years, and that city will continue to be his headquarters. The divisions affected by the change are the Toledo and Ohio Central, the Cincinnati-Sandusky, the Cleveland-Indianapolis and the Cincinnati Northern and the men affected are G. Wirt, of Delaware; F. J. Zerbe, of Bellefontaine, and A. H. Watts, of Van Wert.

IS CELEBRATING TODAY.

Charles A. Cousar, assistant superintendent of the Bass foundry, is passing another mile stone on life's pathway today, just which one he refuses to say. Mr. Cousar was born in Irvine, Ayrshire, Scotland, and came to America when a young man. His first work with Mr. Bass was in the Chicago foundry, then operated by Mr. Bass as a branch of the big plant in this city, where he was employed as chemist a year. Twenty-five years ago Mr. Cousar came to Fort Wayne and has been constantly employed in the Bass foundry since.

PURDUE EXHIBIT CAR COMING.

The agricultural exhibit car of Purdue university will make the spring tour of the state in March and will be in Fort Wayne on the 22nd, coming in over the Lake Shore road and leaving over the Lake Erie and Western. The care of live stock, the selection of seed corn and other cereals and vegetation and fertilizing the soil will be discussed by the speakers.

TOOK ON NEW MEN.

The Pennsylvania machine shop took on some new employes yesterday. Among them were Machinist J. C. Collis and H. F. Smenner and Helpers A. G. Divers, E. P. Foster and P. E. Fisher. Mr. Foster was driver for five or six years on the wagon which conveys supplies between the shops and the round house.

RETURNS TO HIS TRADE.

Vernon E. Harris, a machinist, who has been looking after the butcher shop for Buhr & Meierding, at East Wayne and Combs street, for the past six or eight months, will return to his trade tomorrow, when he takes employment at the factory of the Western Gas Construction company. Mr. Harris learned his trade in the Pennsylvania shops, where his father has been employed for many years.

ORDERS PHONE DISPATCHING.

St. Louis, Feb. 29.—President B. F. Bush, of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain, has installed a long-distance telephone from his office in this city, to the main offices of the Denver and Rio Grande, Western Pacific and the International and Great Northern. He has given orders for telephone dispatching on all roads in the Gould group.

BOTH WRISTS WRENCHED.

J. C. Wait, a helper at one of the big steam hammers at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, had both wrists badly wrenched last evening by the handles of the tongs flying up when the hammer dropped upon the piece of metal he was holding on the anvil. The injury is painful and will disable him for awhile.

LOCOMOTIVE STARTS BLAZE.

Attleboro, Mass., Feb. 29.—A fire loss estimated between $150,000 and $200,000 was caused by a blaze that broke out in the lumber yard of C. A. Pullen & Co., near the Pawtucket line early today. The fire is attributed to sparks from a locomotive.

TWO MEN INJURED.

Two men were injured at the Pennsylvania shops this morning or last night. Will Doehrman, of the wheel lathe department, had a wrist sprained, and Ed Ehrman, at present working in the night gang, had an eye injured. Each will be off duty several days.

WILL RETURN TO GERMANY.

A. C. Finee has resigned his position at the blacksmith shop of the Pennsylvania and will return to his old home in Germany to reside. He has lived in Fort Wayne three years and most of that time has been employed in the Pennsylvania shops.

NEW NAMES ON PAY ROLL.

The Wabash is still adding to the shop force when opportunity occurs. Today seven names were added to the pay rolls. Glenn Watson is a pipefitter; George Beeber and F. H. Hilgeman are machinists, and Jay Pentland, F. E. Hamilton, Elmer Elder and George McAngus are machinists' helpers.

HAVE COMMENCED BRICK WORK.

DEBORAH TO ENTERTAIN.

"CULTIVATION OF VANITY"

"Cultivation of Vanity" will be the subject of Rabbi William Rice's sermon at the service to be held at the Jewish synagogue, corner Harrison and Wayne streets, Friday evening March 1st.

The sermon will refer to the Book of Esther, which tells the story of the establishment of the Feast of Purim. This festival falls this year on March 3rd. The origin of the feast is described in the Book of Esther and its celebration is in memory of the deliverance from death of the whole Jewish population of the great Asiatic empire over which Ahasuerus was ruler. This deliverance was effected by the intercession of Esther, a Jewish woman, who had become the king's wife. The story of Purim is that Mordecai, a Jew, had incurred the enmity of Haman, the favorite vizier, who planned to slaughter all the Jews in revenge. Mordecai enlisted the help of Esther, his cousin and ward, who at the risk of her own life; interceded with the king for her people. The Jews were saved and Haman, their enemy, was hung with his sons on the scaffold intended for Mordechai. (The historicity of the story is very doubtful. In fact there are numerous evidences to its fictitious origin.) The name "Purim" means "lots," as Haman is said to have cast lots to set the day for the massacre. Purim is a home festival in the main and is celebrated by some by masking and dancing, games and plays. The earliest histrionic efforts of the Jews were directed towards plays descriptive of the events described in the Book of Esther. The book itself is read in some synagogues on the feast.

Everybody is welcome at the service, which will begin Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

REGISTRATION IS A REAL FUNCTION

Tea and Auto Rides for the Ladies in San Francisco.

PREPARE FOR BALLOT

San Francisco, Feb. 29.—Eight hundred and seventy-five San Francisco women swore to their ages without hesitation and most of them without blushing the first day the voting registration books were opened to them at the city hall.

Some came with their babies and some with their husbands, and a large number confessed that they had neither husbands nor babies. The registration clerks who had feared the day, were enthusiastic in the evening, declaring that it was easier to register women than men.

The occasion was also a social success. The New Era league was host at the St. Francis hotel and the women of the city who proposed to register were invited guests, invitations having been sent to all feminine organizations that had showed interest in suffrage. From the hotel the guests were taken to the city hall in automobiles after they had indulged in tea and cake.

Bureaus Give Information.

At the hotel and also at the city hall special information bureaus were open to women and it was impressed upon them that they must correctly give their ages and occupations, which perhaps accounts for the smoothness of the actual registration.

Mrs. Mackenzie Gordon was chairman of the reception committee that greeted the women at the city hall, and she and her helpers were on duty from 8:30 a. m. until the books were closed in the evening, and will be there on subsequent registration days. The books are opened at this time to prepare for the special bond election to be held in March.

The only women's club to appear at the registration office in a body was the Colored Women's Non-partisan league, twenty-five strong. They carried banners and wore badges and presented the full membership.

Several women found themselves disqualified as voters because their husbands are aliens. They received small consolation from the news that Senator Kent has introduced a bill in congress providing for citizenship for such wives.

Woman Seeks Office.

One of the deputies assigned to register women was Miss Vivian Ryan, aged 21, and a republican, who is the first woman appointed deputy registrar in San Francisco. Miss Ryan disclaims credit of being a pioneer in the suffrage cause. She was a stenographer and while she believes in women asserting their civic rights, she does not approve of active campaigning for them.

Considerable interest was manifested by the new electors in the announcement made during the day that Miss Geneva Graham will contest for city clerk at Whittier. Miss Graham is barely 21 and will be the youngest candidate seeking office under the constitutional amendment. She is holding the office she seeks through appointment, which gives her a great advantage.

Girls 18, But Can't Vote.

The most frequent mistake was that of girls past 18 years of age and under 21 who expected to be able to register because their age gives them other legal privileges.

One of the notable registrations was that of Mrs. Donna Maria Coleman, who was the first woman to hold office in California. Mrs. Coleman was superindent of schools in Shasta county from 1876 to 1886, went through five campaigns and is probably as ardent a suffragist as can be found in California. She is 81 years old and came to California in 1852 from her native state, New York.

William Vandevoort and wife, neither of whom has been old enough to vote for very long, were accompanied by tiny Miss Dorothy Vandevoort, who has attained only two months of the age necessary to her majority.

While her mother held up her right hand and took the oath, told all the necessary details and signed her registration, the young father, who is a member of the city fire department, held the baby, transferring her to his wife's care while he followed with his own registration.

One group of well known club women entered. Theirs is a literary club rather than a civic or political, however, and there has not been much instruction along political lines. Gazing around the big room, lined with busy registrars at work, one of the women gasped: "Where in the world do we start?"

Occupation, "None."

One woman, asked as to her occupation, said meditatively that she thought she was a slave. Another asked if she might register as valet for her husband and son.

"Can I say I am a housewife when I live in an apartment?" queried one conscientious little woman. Many of the citizens had to confess that "None" was the only answer they could give as to the matter of occupation.

Among those who resigtered were more than half of the members of Britannia lodge, Order of the Daughters of St. George, although they were at first opposed to the idea of suffrage.

THE QUICKEST WAY TO CURE A COLD

Buy the Curative Ingredients and Mix Them Yourself.

There is no excuse for anybody to suffer with a cold. Nor is it necessary to experiment with dangerous cough syrups.

Catarrhal discharges, rheumatism due to the presence of uric acid, sniffling, stopped passages of the nose, bronchial irritation, offensive breath and "that grippy feeling" are promptly relieved by a simple home-made prescription without interfering with the regular duties of the day.

Mix virgin oil of pine with glycerine and whisky, or take with sugar. It will cure any cold that is curable and relieve all inflammation and congestion inside of twenty-four hours. Virgin oil of pine may be bought at any drug store in the original half-ounce vials in which it is put up for pharmaceutical purposes by the Leach Chemical company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who guarantee its freshness and purity.

AUBURN HANDLE FACTORY.

Commercal Club May Aid in Its Rebuilding.

Auburn, Ind., Feb. 29.—The question of rebuilding the R. W. Vaughn & Co. Handle factory, destroyed by fire yesterday, has not yet been determined. Mr. Vaughn, the manager, said this would be a matter that the directors would soon decide. The burning of the factory entails a loss of $10,000. The company had no insurance. Fifteen men were employed. They have secured work at the other factories here, all of which are busy. The handle factory company had large sums of money invested in lands from which timber is being cut and had recently put a large amount of money in new machinery. The big loss is a severe blow to the company. It is probable the Commercal club of Auburn will take hold of the rebuilding project and render substantial aid.

MAJESTIC GOES TO VAUDEVILLE

Change in Theater's Policy to Be Inaugurated Monday.

IN LINE WITH OTHERS

Following the trend of affairs theatrical in many of the larger cities in the country, the Majestic theater in this city will on next Monday begin its career as a vaudeville house. No further popular-priced attractions will be booked during the present season, the run of vaudeville continuing indifinitely.

There are yet to come on the season's bookings some half a dozen of the larger road attractions, and these will be played as usual, but with this exception the Majestic will pin its faith to the vaudeville form of entertainment. Booking affiliations connected with Detroit and Cincinnati have been consummated, and Manager Rice said today that the offerings will be first-class in every way.

"We shall present eight big acts, but no pictures and no illustrated songs," said Mr. Rice, "giving two shows daily—a matinee at 2:30 and an evening performance at 8:15. The matinee price will be ten cents to any part of the house. In the evening there will be one thousand seats at ten cents and none higher than twenty cents."

"The Majestic in this departure is merely following the prevailing fad in the larger cities," continued Mr. Rice. "In St. Louis, for instance, the Hippidrome, seating 3,000 people, is now playing vaudeville at ten cents, and it is proving immensely popular. We believe Fort Wayne will cordially endorse the new move, and are looking forward to a long season of excellent vaudeville."

SHOWS SOME IMPROVEMENT.

Attorney John Eggeman's Condition is Slightly Better.

Slight improvement was reported today from the St. Joseph's hospital in the condition of Attorney John W. Eggeman, who underwent an operation for appendicitis almost two weeks ago. Mr. Eggeman's convalescence has not been as rapid as was hoped and the danger point in his case is not yet entirely passed.

Cashier Theodore Wentz, of the German-American bank, who underwent an operation early in the present week, is apparently making rapid progress toward recovery.

SCHIFF AND GANS WILL BE CALLED

To Appear Before Grand Jury if They Waive Immunity.

THE BRANDT AFFAIR

New York, Feb. 25.—The grand jury investigating the charge that there was a conspiracy whereby Folke E. Brandt was sent away for a thirty year term in prison for burglary, may summon Mortimer L. Schiff, the banker and former employer of Brandt, and Mr. Schiff's counsel, Howard S. Gans.

The banker and his counsel will be subpoenaed, it is expected, if they agree to waive immunity, as they have previously agreed to do, and that the proceedings be given the sanction of Governor Crain, of the court of general sessions. District Attorney Whitman said he had no objection to the appearance of Mr. Schiff and Mr. Gans before the grand jury, provided that it was judicially decided that they would not gain immunity.

The banker and his counsel have previously requested an appearance before the grand jury. District Attorney Whiteman is extremely desirous of obtaining a letter written by Brandt and addressed to Mrs. Schiff just before he was taken to prison. Mr. Schiff alleges that the letter was in reality written by one of counsel for Brandt in furtherance of a plot to release Brandt from prison while laying the foundation for his later appeal. This letter is reported to be in the possession of Mr. Schiff.

CONQUEROR OF TYPHOID FEVER

Potent Serum Proves Very Efficacious in Use by Army.

BUT 39 CASES IN 1911

Washington, Feb. 29.—In continental United States there are approximately 45,000 regular troops. During the calendar year 1911 there were only thirty-nine cases of typhoid fever among the troops.

From the typhoid bacilli a serum has been made which, when a person is inoculated with it, will, 99 times out of 100 render the persons immune for at least three years. All the troops were, in 1911, inoculated with the serum, or prophylax. This accounts for the low percentage (.55) of typhoid in the army—about one case to 2,000 men.

"The results obtained by the use of the typhoid prophylax, or serum, is indeed remarkable," said Capt. Albert G. Love, of the army medical corps and assistant to Chief Surgeon General Torney. "As wonderful as have been the results, the end has not yet been reached. Next year will see the serum perfected so that the period of immunity will be longer than three years—say five years."

What has been done in the army can be done everywhere, according to Chief Surgeon Torney, and he is backed up by Major Frederick F. Russell, the typhoid serum expert of the medical corps, and Lieut. Col. J. R. Kean, assistant to Gen. Torney.

"There is absolutely no reason why typhoid fever in the United States should not be reduced at least 75 per cent," said Major Russell.

"If municipal authorities would insist upon inoculation against typhoid as they do vaccination against smallpox the reduction of typhoid cases would be material," said Lieut. Col. Kean.

In the "maneuver division" camp at San Antonio last year there were 12,801 officers and men. They were in camp from March 10 to July 10. There was but one case of typhoid fever, non-fatal, during the period.

In the volunteer camp at Jacksonville, Fla., in 1898, for the same length of time, there were 10,750 officers and men, 1,720 cases of typhoid, with 248 deaths.

And while the troops in camp at San Antonio had but one case in four months, the city of San Antonio had forty-nine cases, with nineteen deaths.

The conditions that the "maneuver division" site were not the best. The men constantly lived amid either dust or mud. It rained continually for days after the men began to arrive. After the rain ceased and the mud dried there came dust. The natural conditions were conducive to typhoid. It was inoculation and improved methods of sanitation in the camp that prevented an epidemic.

Perhaps one-fourth of the men arrived at San Antonio inoculated. The remaining three-fourths were given the prophylax after their arrival, and its effect was almost instantaneous.

In 1896 Sir A. E. Wright, formerly professor of pathology at the Royal Army Medical college at Netley, England, announced that by killing typhoid cultures he had made a serum which immuned a person for a short time. He got the idea from the manner in which persons had been vaccinated for the prevention of cholera.

In 1898, the year of the Spanish-American war, 4,000 English soldiers in India were inoculated. When typhoid became epidemic in South Africa during the Boer war he introduced the practice there. The results in India and South Africa were about eleven cases of typhoid to every 1,000 men inoculated.

After this Wright dropped his work in the army and went to St. Mary's hospital, London, and the practice of inoculation became lax until a few years later, when it was again taken up by Col. Leishman and Major Harrison, of the British army. Some tests were being conducted at the time by the German army also.

Major Russell was sent abroad in 1908 to study the tests being made in England, and on his return in 1909 he began making tests here by order of the war department. At that time it was decided to vaccinate only volunteer troops and in time of war.

Major Russell had such success in 1909 and 1910, however, with voluntary subjects that he recommended that inoculation for typhoid be made compulsory in the army. His recomendation was not acted upon, however, until 1911, when the troops went into camp at San Antonio. The one-fourth of the troops which went into the camp inoculated had subjected themselves to it voluntarily. An order was issued with the movement of the troops to compel all to be inoculated. The result is best told in the figures furnished for the year 1911—thirty-nine cases in continental United States.

Major Russell gives the following methods by which typhoid can be stamped out:

1. Typhoid fever can be stamped out by an aggressive campaign in which the sources of infection are traced by modern methods.

2. This disease is practically contagious and the patients should be isolated and routine disinfection should be carried out not only until they are convalescent, but also until they have ceased to excrete bacilli.

3. Correct diagnosis at the earliest possible moment of all cases is of prime importance to the sanitarian. Earlier diagnoses can be made by blood cultures than by the agglutination test or by clinical signs.

4. Inoculation of typhoid serum at periods not over three years.

Major Russell says it is within the reach of everybody to be inoculated every three or four years, that the serum can be procured so as to make the cost of inoculation not more than $2 if done by a private physician, and but a few cents if done by a health officer.

"The time is here when typhoid almost can be eradicated by preventative measures," said Major Russell. "The cost of these preventative measures is so small that the plea of cost has no weight."

Inoculation can be made on the legs as well as on the arms.

Major Russell will soon prepare an article for publication in medical journals setting forth the results of his experiments and his recommendations for the adoption of inoculation for typhoid.

PLEDGES DUE TOMORROW.

Frat Members in High School Have Not Yet Responded.

Prof. C. T. Lane, principal of the Fort Wayne high school, stated this afternoon that none of the signed pledges of withdrawal from the Greek letter fraternities and sororities has as yet been received from students of the school. The pledges, however, were not due to be turned in until tomorrow according to the terms laid down by the school authorities in fixing a time limit in which pupils affiliated with the societies which are under the legal ban of the state must resign from the societies or leave school. Blank pledges to be signed by the students were distributed yesterday.

MOVING PICTURES RE-ELECTION PLEA

DesMoines Commissioner in New Stunt That May Win for Him.

MR. MACVICER'S IDEA

Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 28.—For the first time in an American municipality moving pictures are being used in Des Moines as the chief argument in a political campaign. The innovation is the idea of John H. MacVicker, who hopes to succeed himself under the commission form of government which this city enjoys.

Moving pictures of miscellaneous scenes and events have been used frequently in various cities to draw crowds to political meetings, but this is the first attempt to present to the voters on a film to visualize, so to speak—the reasons why their ballots should be cast for a particular candidate.

The idea has scored a tremendous hit, and there is no longer a doubt that moving pictures will become a permanent feature of political campaigns, for they afford the best and most concrete expression of a record of achievement. Great crowds attend MacVicker's "shows."

Des Moines right now has a number of lively campaign ideas the country at large may study with interest. Not all are original, but their operation has been so conspicuously successful here that they, too, may be termed "Iowa ideas."

Lafe Young, sr., who was United States senator long enough a few years ago to learn to like the job and wants another try at it, has hired a chorus for his campaign, with a high-class soloist to help things along.

Charles Schramm, who, like Mr. MacVicker, wishes to succeed himself as councilman, has hit upon a novel plan to make himself heard at every meeting that will be held during the campaign, whether he can be there or not. He has spoken into a phonograph and had numerous records made from it. Whenever there is a meeting that he can't attend—and there are usually two or three a night—he sends a record for reproduction.

But both Young and Schramm admit that MacVicker's idea is even more impressive than theirs.

Kept Records of City Work.

MacVicker, during the greater part of his services as councilman under the present commission form of government, has had charge of the department of streets and public improvements, and his pictures show dull and indifferent conditions prior to his administration, contrasted with the activity after he took charge—clogged alleys and bad streets before and ideal conditions after.

Thousands of men are shown at work on city improvements, and this carries a vigorous appeal to the working class, who feel grateful for the opportunity to labor on public improvements that has been afforded under the MacVicker administration.

One of the most striking pictures shown is that depicting the West Ninth street grade. This project has aroused divided sentiment as to its value. It meant the cutting down of a hill some twenty feet, leaving churches and dwellings in the heart of the city standing on the verge of high cliffs. It reduced a 10 per cent. grade to a 2 per cent.

MacVicker, in showing these pictures, maintains it is one of the greatest improvements made in recent years. He points out that adjoining property owners, one church excepted, waived damages, and that the reduction of grade has made possible a much better street car service into Northwest Des Moines. His critics have referred to the reduction of the grade as the "Culebra cut," because of its unusual depth.

As the pictures are thrown upon the screen MacVicker explains them and points out the effects, the amount of work that has been furnished and the future benefits. One picture that arouses special commendation is that showing the Des Moines river front as it existed before his administration, with old frame bridges, and as his ultimate plans contemplate it, with concrete, Milan arch bridges over the stream, and public buildings on both sides. Seventy-five per cent. of this plan has been completed, the new city hall, coliseum, postoffice and public library having been erected and two of the four proposed Milan arch bridges being in place.

Then he turns to the site of the city hall as he found it, covered with rubbish and crushed stone, with two men disconsolately sitting at the side looking longingly for the time when there would be work. Then he shows the men working on the building and finally a picture of the complete new building that cost half a million dollars, and views of its interior, elaborate in marble finishing and decoration.

Another great change of grade he pictures is the raising of East Locust street to make a level traffic from West Des Moines over the new Milan arch bridge, past the new city hall and direct to the state capitol.

The campaign is educating the people of Des Moines about their own city and bringing to the attention of those who have not had time and money to make an inspection of the city at large the recent improvements.

How Council Cut Middlemen's Profits.

"I have been your public servant," says Mr. MacVicker. "I have done all this for you—and more. James, turn the crank. This next picture"——

Just then he is likely to be interrupted by the squeaking sound of Schramm's lieutenant testing out his phonograph for the next number on the political program, but he only scowls and refrains from remarks, for Schramm has consistently voted with him in his many enterprises in the city council.

"I want them all to be heard," continues MacVicker. "Despite the cartoons in the papers, one of which I now show you, representing the councilmen as having stern faces, raised fists and vicious attitudes, there has been a spirit best interests of Des Moines. I ask you, of peace and uniform striving for the if you doubt this, to look on this picture."

And on the screen is thrown an actual photograph showing the members in such a peaceful and harmonious attitude that it may have been taken just after election, when all felt intense satisfaction at the result.

"Photographs don't lie," says MacVicker. "I ask you who with the rest of us have to struggle to make both ends meet to look upon this picture. No, that isn't a riot. It's the crowd at the market place that has been established under the present city council and which has reduced the poor man's cost of living in Des Moines 40 per cent. Here thousands come and go during the day and buy direct from the farmers and producers. It has proven a great benefit to the city, as most of you know.

"I have worked hard to deserve your confidence and have done these many things to help make your life in Des Moines easier and happier. Now for a few things I hope to do, if you continue to give me your confidence by your vote at the next election. James, turn the crank. Behold"——

And the voter is carried away into a realm that promises to make Des Moines a paradise, if MacVicker is elected—and every indication is that he will be.

Such was the case with Mrs. W. S. Bailey, McCreary, Ky., "My wife was taken down with a severe attack of la grippe, which run into bronchitis. She coughed as tho' she had consumption and could not sleep at night. The doctor's medicine gave her no relief and I was advised to try Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The first bottle gave her so much relief that she continued using it and three bottles effected a permanent cure." Mr. W. S. Bailey says he is prepared to answer all inquiries promptly.

WOMAN'S BEAUTY

Dr. Baker in "Woman's Journal."

The subject of beauty is a never ending source of interest to womankind and rightly so. Real beauty lies in being healthy, and health is a matter of correct metabolism; which means that the chemical process (which begins with life and ends with death) of the renewal of cells, tissues and blood and the elimination or waste of same must be in accord.

If the metabolism be wrong it is manifested by nervous ills, but particularly by anaemia. The thin, colorless, bloodless woman or girl is never happy or beautiful. Anaemia brings with it a long train of feminine ills which depletes the nervous system and detracts from personal magnetism and charm.

The pink cheeked, red lipped, sparkling eyed plump girl or woman is filled with personal magnetism. Such a one is charming and wins love and friendship where the one of ill health is sometimes shunned. Metabolism may be restored, the body and nerves built up and health, beauty and happiness regained by the simple act of drinking twice daily for a few weeks and thereafter two or three times a week, a fluid found by a German chemist and which is known to physicians as metabolin..m. It contains no alcohol or narcotic drugs and is purely a nerve food drink which restores the correct metabolism. Rather too expensive though, for the poor who need it most, it is consumed in the larger cities by actors, actresses, singers, musicians, society people and all of that class who must depend upon strong nerves and their beauty for success. The price never is considered by such as these. A pint of the concentrated metabolinum when diluted with water makes more than a gallon, and one dollar and twenty-five cents is paid for this amount. Its prompt action on the metabolism of the system, makes it popular. I feel free to recommend it to all who are nervous, anaemic, thin and wasting with various ills, because it is never advertised and has undoubted virtue as a builder and tonic. In most large cities the leading pharmacist carries it to supply physicians' prescriptions. However, any one can obtain it as it contains nothing harmful.

To Save Insurance Money

Look at the advertisement of the Postal Life Insurance Company in Pearson's Magazine for March. It is unusual. It is important, if you want to save money. It is unusual to advertise an advertisement. It is usual to advertise a story which is worth something to the average man's health or pocketbook. This Postal advertisement is worth a whole lot in both ways. That's why the magazine advertises it. Before you buy any more insurance read this advertisement. Don't forget to do that. Even if you don't expect to buy any more insurance, look at this advertisement. Be sure to do that. It is enlightening and it may save money for you some time. It might help you to preserve your health now.

The same issue of the magazine contains an article which shows simply and clearly whether or not the proposed Aldrich Currency Bill will benefit you: you ought to know that; you heard a lot about a currency bill; see what it means to you. Another article gives the plain thought of prominent Democrats about W. R. Hearst as a presidential possibility. And for entertainment purely, the magazine includes another part of a novel by Anthony Partridge—the best novel of mystery that will be told this year; the story of Emperor Francis Joseph's two sweethearts; the story of how the Astor family became a "Four Hundred" possibility, and Seven Rattling Good Short Stories.

IT IS INDIANA'S SMALLEST TOWN

Officers Serve Without Pay in College Park, Near Huntington.

POSTAL NAME UBEE

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 28.—College Park, Indiana's smallest incorporated town, is possibly the only town in the state whose officers have always served without recompense and where no arrest has ever been made. At present there is so little demand for a policeman that the man elected to the position last fall has failed to qualify.

College Park, known as Ubee in the United States postal directory, has about thirty-five voters, and a population of possibly 150 men, women and children. Its town limits come within a quarter of a mile of the northern boundaries of the city of Huntington.

Built Around College.

The town consists of the community built up about Central college, an institution established by the Church of the United Brethren in Christ (old constitution) in the summer of 1897. The school is looked on in church circles as the successor to Hartsville college, which from 1844 to about 1896 was at Hartsville, Bartholomew county. The Rev. C. H. Kiracofe, D. D., was the first president of Central college, as he had been from 1879 to 1889, president of Hartsville college.

The little village which now claims the college as its chief attraction, includes a handsome expanse of college campus, which covers some of the most picturesque territory north of Huntington. The college building forms the center about which the residence quarters are built. The place took on the form of a town corporation in 1907, since which time it has improved the main street by macadamizing and curbing, and cement walks. Under the three-mile road law additional improvements have been made on other streets, giving direct improved street connections to Huntington.

Only Debt for Streets.

Aside from the $3,300 street improvement indebtedness there are no outstanding obligations and no one worries as to a town hall or other public buildings, for the college building serves all purposes. Electric light and power and telephone service are supplied from the Huntington systems, and with the exception of a small store, no business places are provided in the town, all trading being done in Huntington.

From the initials of United Brethren the town takes its postoffice name of Ubee, the postal department refusing to recognize the town name because of a conflict with other places. A postoffice is maintained in the small store and a messenger carries the mails back and forth between College Park and Huntington two or three times a day.

The board of trustees of the town include E. E. Gard, school teacher; Noah Miller, retired farmer; W. H. Kindle, a minister; W. A. Hanshew, bookkeeper. Rev. C. A. Mummart, formerly pastor of the church and later editor of the Christian Conservator, now a professor in the college is president of the board of trustees. F. A. Loew, a college professor, is secretary, and L. E. Romig, a cabinetmaker and carpenter, is treasurer.

Fails to Qualify as Marshal.

A. W. Snider, named marshal, has failed to qualify and no one is demanding the position. The council meets the first Tuesday in each month and just at present the amount of business is exceedingly small.

The town is about half a mile east and west and three-fourths of a mile north and south. John Seese, aged 83, is the oldest resident, though there are several who have lived longer in the place. He settled there when the college was first opened.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 27, 1912.

Honorable Common Council.

Gentlemen: We are herewith sending you communication received from Mr. Joseph Wood, first vice president of the Pennsylvania company, and our answer thereto, both of which are self-explanatory.

Respectfully submitted,
BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.
By FRANK T. BENOY.

Received and spread on record.

Pittsburg, Pa., February 22, 1912.

The City of Fort Wayne, Board of Public Works, Messrs. Frank T. Benoy, G. A. Schwegman, E. J. Lennon.

Dears Sirs: In reply to your favor of the 10th instant, addressed to Mr. W. M. Wardrop, superintendent, in regard to track elevation, Fort Wayne, Ind., the Pennsylvania company is willing to comply with the wishes of the city in regard to matters therein contained so far as possible as outlined below. Using the numbers and letters that you have employed in said communication:

First. The city will grant the Railroad company additional track rights requested at Calhoun street, Fairfield avenue, Broadway, Union and College streets. These comprise the following:

Calhoun street—At this street the railroad is to be permitted now or at any time in the future to build as many tracks as they may need within the present limits of their ground abutting on either side of the street. This will mean in the future a total of not exceeding eight tracks, but these tracks are to be built upon the masonry abutments now built and without interfering with the street.

Fairfield avenue—The number of tracks across this street will be a total of six upon the abutments now built. This bridge is now in place, so that nothing remains to be done here. The ordinance should state six tracks.

Broadway—We now have all the tracks we need across Broadway, four in number—but this number should also be stated in the ordinance.

College street—We now have four tracks and the ordinance should state that number.

Union street—We now have four tracks —the ordinance should state that number.

(a) Vacation of Chicago, Webster, McClellan streets and alleys between Baker and Chicago streets, as shown by the railroad's plan.

This will be satisfactory to the railroad company.

The city requires:

First. That the railroad give the city street rights at Harrison street to connect with those already secured from the Wabash company.

This will be satisfactory to the railroad company. The plans for the subway at Harrison street are to be approved by the city and the railroad company.

(a) That the railroad company, in 1912, shall elevate tracks at Union and College streets, and at Harrison street not later than 1913, or at the time the Wabash company elevates its tracks.

This will be satisfactory to the railroad company, provided that it shall be done under the same terms and conditions as on the piece of work now under way at and between Calhoun street, Fairfield avenue and Broadway.

(b) That the railroad company build its passenger station on Baker street according to plans heretofore submitted to the city; said building to be commenced not later than April 1st, 1912.

This will be agreed to by the railroad company, as it has been for months ready to construct a new passenger station, and will do so as soon as the street changes, vacations and other modifications necessary to clear the land are provided and arranged by the city.

(c) That the railroad company agrees not to build across Clinton street before January 1st, 1915: it being understood that said agreement shall not constitute a waiver of any of the rights of the city at said Clinton street, or as an abridgment or bar of the right of said city to continue its proceeding and litigation for the opening of said street across your right of way.

The railroad company will not construct any buildings across Clinton street extended before January 1st, 1915. This we understand to be in compliance with your requirements.

(d) That the railroad company also co-operate with the city in the elevation of tracks east of Calhoun street whenever appropriate legal action is taken by the city.

Our understanding of this matter is that the railroad company is obliged to comply with the law governing these matters and that they cannot object to your proposition. Therefore, we will, when requested by the proper city authorities, and after the work now under way is completed, enter into negotiations for such track elevation under the same terms and conditions as on the piece of work now under way at and between Calhoun street, Fairfield avenue and Broadway.

(3) That the railroad company will release the city from the payment of $2,000 which, by a certain contract in 1903, the city agreed to pay for additional width at Calhoun street and Broadway.

The railroad company will assent to this requirement.

(4) That the railroad company do the incidental things in connection with the work west of Calhoun street, such as the widening of Baker street, et cetera, all as tentatively agreed upon by the city and your company in past negotiations.

This seems rather general in its character and in the absence of knowledge of what these incidental things mean we can only say that, so far as the proposed widening of Baker street is concerned, it is our understanding that the city desires to set the curb of Baker street farther south than the regular sidewalk width would require, so that there would be a wider roadway or carriageway in Baker street in front of our property. This we would not consider desirable from the standpoint of the city nor of the railroad company for the reason that it limits the approach to the railway station, defacing the street, and would be quite objectionable. The distance from the railroad tracks to the proposed station building and the width of the station building north and south require us to place the building very near to the line of Baker street, and we should strongly object to narrowing the sidewalk of Baker street. We will, however, make such an arrangement as regards Baker street as will seem best for the mutual interests of the railroad company and the city.

Referring to the things which you intend to do in any event:

First. With reference to your position as regards a subway at Walton avenue and the extension of Garden street over our right of way:

The position of the railroad is that it will not object to joining with the city in the separation of the grades of the railroad and Walton avenue on plans mutually agreeable, provided that it shall be done under the same terms and conditions as on the piece of work now under way at and between Calhoun street, Fairfield avenue and Broadway.

Referring to Garden street, we are not inclined to an opening of this street across our railway at grade—we object to it very strongly, as we fear it will be directly in opposition to the course which the city has so wisely pursued in separating the grades of the streets and railroad. We would much prefer that the city should require that Garden street should be passed under the railroad at such time in the early future as it is practicable to do it, and on the same terms and conditions as on the piece of work now under way at and between Calhoun street, Fairfield avenue and Broadway.

(2) Regarding the concluding paragraph in your letter, that the city will continue proceedings for the elevation of the tracks at College and Union streets:

With the understanding above it is clear what the railroad company's position is in this matter.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH WOOD,
Vice President.

Received and spread on record.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Febrdary 27, 1912.

Mr. Joseph Wood, First Vice President Pennsylvania R. R. Co., Pittsburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: We have your letter of February 22d, and without going in detail into the propositions therein contained, we call your attention to that part of your letter appearing on page two, which is as follows:

(a) That the railroad company in 1912 shall elevate tracks at Union and College streets, and at Harrison street not later than 1913, or at the time the Wabash company elevates its tracks.

(b) This will be satisfactory to the railroad company, provided that it shall be done under the same terms and conditions as in the piece of work now under way at and between Calhoun street, Fairfield avenue and Broadway.

There is but one rule to guide the city in the doing of track elevation work, which is that rule laid down in the special track elevation law. Under this law it is provided that the railroad companies shall pay 75 per cent. and the city 25 per cent. of the cost of the work, and that the cost shall include the cost of the superstructure, the work beneath it, the street approaches thereto and all the work made necessary by the improvement. In short, the law provides the above division on all work actually made necessary by reason of the improvement, except the cost of the work on your right of way outside of the street crossings. There is no way under the present law how any different division of the cost can be made. The law provides for but one unit for all the above work, and that a unit of 100 per cent., with the city paying 25 and the railroad company 75 per cent. Any different arrangement, such as the city paying entirely for the approaches, would create a new unit, an entirely new division of cost and be in conflict with the terms of the statute.

The city is very anxious to have the contemplated improvements along your right of way carried on, and to that end it has made you what it considers a very fair proposition, meeting practically every term of all propositions heretofore submitted by you. The only difference now existing between th city and your company is, who shall pay the cost of the approaches? For the city to agree to any division of the cost other than that provided by the law would be a direct violation of section 9 of the statute, which provides that the city can enter into a "written agreement * * * not inconsistent with the provisions thereof as to the division of costs." Even if the interpretation of the law was only debatable, the city could not wisely enter into an agreement contrary to our interpretation. But with grave doubts existing as to its intended meaning, it would be manifestly unwise for it to enter into such a contract, as the law might, in some legal proceeding, be construed, as interpreted by the city, and then the agreement would be a violation of the statute.

However, we are willing that you proceed with your work, and the city with its work, and then after the same is finished, the question of who shall pay for the approaches decided by the court. It can be provided that you waive none of your rights to question the matter hereafter, and in this way you will lose nothing, for under the law the city finances the cost of the approaches, but instead both the city and your company will be enjoying the benefits of the improvement while the matter is being litigated. If that becomes absolutely necessary, instead of holding up the improvement until the question is decided by the court.

The other matters in your letter differing somewhat from our proposition can be readily adjusted, but the disagreement on the question of the cost of the approaches should be settled first by construing the law as interpreted by the city. The position of the city must be plain to you, and it is our earnest hope that you will be able to co-operate with the city under its proposition to your company.

Respectfully submitted,
CITY OF FORT WAYNE.

COMMUNICATION FROM BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 24, 1912.

To the Honorable City Council, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Gentlemen: An ordinance was recently before your honorable body providing for placing the planting and the care of trees on the streets and public grounds of the city of Fort Wayne under the supervision of the board of park commissioners. It failed of passage, as we have since learned, only by reason of representations made that our board was not united in the desire that it should be enacted.

We therefore send you this communication, assuring you over the signature of each member of our board, that we not only favor the passage of such an ordinance, but express our belief that it is a matter of vital importance to our city, and that unless such action is promptly taken a very large proportion of our street trees will soon be beyond the power of anybody to save them, because of the attack of scale, of beetle and of moth, from which they are very generally now suffering. A recent close examination of the trees in our parks discloses the fact that we have already too long delayed remedial work. All over the city our people are urging our board to undertake this work in their behalf, expressing their willingness to pay for having it done. Because of the large amount of private work to be had our board believes it can be made nearly self-supporting. At any rate, no additional appropriation will be asked for from the city council with which to carry it on.

We do therefore earnestly petition your honorable body that said ordinance be re-introduced, and placed upon its passage, and express the hope that it may meet with unanimous support.

Spraying for scale must be done before the trees leaf out. Only a very short time remains in which it can be done this year. It is therefore important that no time be lost.

Our board may be relied upon to so interpret the provisions of this law as to make the enactment a most popular one, and if there should be any failure in that regard, it is within the province of the city council to repeal the ordinance at any time.

Respectfully yours,
DAVID N. FOSTER,
LOUIS DORN,
LOUIS FOX,
OSCAR W. TRESSELT,
Board of Park Commissioners.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CLAIMS.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 21, 1912.

Honorable Common Council.

Gentlemen: The undersigned committee to whom was referred the claims of Mary Kromm, George Bartlett and Frank Shreve against the city of Fort Wayne, desire to report as follows:

We have investigated the claim of Mary Kromm, which arises out of an alleged injury supposed to have been sustained by the claimant at the corner of 12th day of October, 1909, by reason of falling over some excavation and other debris left in the street by the city. Suit has been filed in the Allen superior court by the claimant. Because we think there is liability, we recommend that $150 be paid in settlement of this claim.

Concerning the Bartlett claim, which arises from an injury claimed to have been sustained by the plaintiff in his complaint, which is filed in the Allen superior court, by reason of a defect in a cross walk, the plaintiff sustained a sprained ankle and was unable to work for a long period of time. The condition complained of really existed, because we have learned that repairs were made subsequent to the injury. We would recommend that the claim be settled by the payment of $100.

The claim of Frank Shreve was sued upon by the plaintiff in the Allen superior court three or four years ago, and a demurrer by the city to the plaintiff's complaint was sustained, from which ruling the plaintiff appealed to the appellate court of Indiana, and the finding in the lower court reversed. The plaintiff in this case stumbled over a wire that was strung between the curbing and the sidewalk to protect the lawn of an abutting property owner. The upper court held that this was an obstruction and the city was liable for injuries resulting therefrom. The plaintiff fractured his hands, damaged a camera that he was carrying and suffered other injuries, such as loss of time. We recommend that the same be settled by the payment of $125.

The three above claims can be settled for $375, and we think it ought to be done, as it will, unquestionably, be cheaper than litigation.

Respectfully submitted,
CHARLES W. DITTOE,
CHAS. E. WELCH,
Committee on Claims.

Concurred in.

Be it ordained by the common council of the city of Fort Wayne, Indiana, that the board of park commissioners shall have power from time to time to adopt and enforce rules, regulations and specifications for the trimming, removal and planting and protection of all trees, shrubs, vines, flowers, hedges and plants within the limits of any public street, alley, thoroughfare or lawn in said city, and shall have power to regulate and prescribe terms and conditions upon which permits to trim, remove or plant any such trees, shrubs, vines, flowers or plants within said city shall be granted.

Section 2. That hereafter it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to trim, remove or plant, injure or destroy any tree, vine, shrub, flower or plant within the limits of any public street, alley, thoroughfare, lawn, park, parkway or boulevard without first obtaining written permission from the board of park commissioners of the city of Fort Wayne.

Section 3. That said board of park commissioners shall hereafter be empowered and authorized to require the owner or occupant of property abutting any street or alley, to remove or trim any tree, shrub, vine, flower or plant, or part thereof, in front of the property of any such owner or occupant which may be dead or in unsightly or in a dangerous condition, or which may project over such street beyond the property line of such owner or occupant, to a height of ten (10) feet or less, according to size, or any tree obstructing the free passage of pedestrians on the sidewalk, by first causing notice to be served upon such owner or occupant of the premises adjoining said street or alley ten (10) days prior to the time designated for the removal or trimming of any such tree, shrub, vine, flower or plant.

If, after sixty (60) days from the service of such notice, any such owner or occupant shall fail or refuse to so plant such trees, vines, flowers or plants, then said board of park commissioners may plant the same and the expense thereof shall become a lien against the adjoining property as provided by section 234 of the act of the general assembly of Indiana of 1905, entitled, "An act concerning municipal corporations."

Section 4. It shall be unlawful for any person to engage in the business of planting, cutting, removing, trimming or spraying trees, shrubs, vines, etc., in the city of Fort Wayne, without first procuring from the city controller, on an application approved by the board of park commissioners, a license each year, authorizing any such person so to engage in any such business. And said board of park commissioners shall not approve of any such application without first being satisfied of the competency of the applicant to engage in such business. Upon the issuance of such license by the city controller, the applicant shall pay a license fee of one dollar ($1.00), which shall entitle him to conduct any such business during the calendar year within which the license is issued. The board of park commissioners within said city shall have power to revoke any such license whenever it shall appear to such board that the licenses has violated any of the rules of said board which may be adopted in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance, or has violated any ordinance of such city, or any law of the state of Indiana, pertaining to the care, preservation, trimming or removal of trees, etc., in such city.

Section 5. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined in any sum not less than one dollar ($1.00), nor more than twenty-five dollars ($25.00).

Le Chateau de Montreuil Well Worth a Visit—Triptych by a Sixteenth Century Master of the Flemish School—Portrait by Hoppner—Picture by a Whistler Pupil—Mr. Thomas B. Clarke's Gift to The Brook—Painting Dogs in the Field

Adoration of the Magi. Triptych by a Flemish Master of the Sixteenth Century

Chateau de Montreuil, Versailles

PARISIANS who go to Versailles are naturally attracted to the environs of the chateau. Some repair to the broad and majestic avenues of the park, others to those woodland paths about the Grand and Petit Trianons as far as those rustic passages, so to speak, where is located the Hameau de Marie Antoinette. They rarely have the inspiration to cast a glance at the other end of the settlement along the superb avenue de Paris, where several beautiful estates are still to be found in Versailles. Even those who come by that ancient royal road hardly do more than rush through it like a whirlwind at all speed in their automobiles, though it would be better if they went through this avenue en flaneur without allowing themselves to be daunted by a solitude that would predispose them to a tranquillity of mind that would permit them to feast their eyes upon a dream of the past. It would be worth while. Every step would bring them to an oasis of verdure with its high tops of century old trees, between the branches of which are peeping out the charming houses of the eighteenth century.

Among these ancient residences account should be taken of that which goes by the name of Chateau de Montreuil, now parceled out, but of which the finest part was the residence, a country villa, of Mme. Elizabeth, the sister of Louis XVI. A museum picture: a canvas by Richard, which was shown in the salon of 1817, enables one to judge of its beauty and also of the importance of the grounds by which it is enclosed. A small photograph, giving even a better idea of detail, is that which represents a gateway, no longer there, but in olden times the principal entrance. Above it rise the tops of superb trees, which give an air of solitude and melancholy to this peaceful nook of old Versailles.

A "DISCOVERY."

FROM obscurity Mr. Walter Greaves, an exhibition of whose work is being held by Mr. Walter Fearon in the recalls the life which the good Princess passed there. Before giving a noble example of heroism she had already prepared herself for it there by acts of piety and devotion. It was not her idea to create this charming retreat; her simple tastes would have prevented it. It was Mme. de Rohan-Guéménée, the governess of the Enfants de France, who was the creator of this admirable hermitage, upon which she lavished extravagances on such an elaborate scale that she was oblized in the course of a few years to cede the estate to the King, who had the happy idea of making a gift of it to his sister, the dearest friend of Mme. de Guéménée.

The general view of this exquisite abode Cottier Galleries, has leaped into sudden fame. Mr. Greaves' father was a Thames boatman at Chelsea. The elder Greaves often had rowed Turner on his sketching trips on the river.

As a boy Walter and his brother had been taught by their father not only to paint boats but also to decorate the prows with armorial bearings, flower pieces and landscapes. About the time they had turned from this to sketching on their own account and were painting pictures of the Thames and Cremorne Gardens, both night and day effects, Whistler settled in Chelsea, and it was not long before the boys met him and came wholly under his influence. The artist took much pleasure in their friendship, often went to their house and said more than once to their pretty sisters, "You are the pride of one and of Lindsey row and I am the pride of the other." As Mr. Christian Brinton says in his timely biography of Walter Greaves, "There is nothing in art quite like the relationship between the acquisitive, cosmopolitan young painter, then fresh from Paris, and the family of the simple river man, Greaves." The sisters not only posed for Whistler, but with willing hands wove the carpet of black and white tape on which, with scrupulous precision, he placed so many of his sitters.

When Whistler attended the life class conducted by a Frenchman, Mons. Barthe, in Limerston street, the boys went with him. In entering the class room a certain care of precedence was punctiliously observed by them. One of the boys drew back the curtain for Whistler, the other took his hat and hung it up carefully, "as though it were a sacred thing," then the boys seated themselves, one on each side of him, not sketching from the model, but copying the entire time from Whistler's sketch and "puffing their cigarettes at the precise instant he elected to puff his own."

In time came the inevitable quarrel. The story is that the Greaveses failed to attend one of Whistler's exhibitions. After the separation they went on painting in obscurity. Mr. Walter Greaves, the survivor of the two brothers, was "discovered" recently through one of his pictures being seen in the window of a second hand book dealer, who had something over fifty examples of Mr. Greaves' paintings besides drawings and etchings. An exhibition was finally arranged for, and now Mr. Greaves, who is said to bear his honors with great modesty, is established in a studio, and in spite of his advanced years intends to "go on painting a bit."

OLD FLEMISH TRIPTYCH.

MONS. LEWIS MORENO owns a remarkable example of Flemish art of the early sixteenth century, to which, however, he hesitates to give an attribution. It is a triptych. The central panel shows an "Adoration of the Magi," with interesting details of architecture, ruins and landscape. The customary figures in representations of the subject are skilfully grouped around the principals, the Virgin and the Child. Each is richly costumed. The vestments are drawn in a remarkable manner, and this is also true of the ornamental accessories and of the architectural details. But what is most interesting in this admirable composition are the facial expression and the purity of design in the figures.

The left wing shows "The Adoration of the Shepherds" and the right "The Presentation in the Temple." The fortified castle in the latter is a curiously interesting bit of architecture. The picture is in an admirable state of preservation. I would gladly attribute it to Met des Bles, called Civetta, a pupil of Patenier, but I have vainly sought for the owlet with which this master usually signed his pictures. To attribute it to Van Orley would be equally defensible. But whoever the painter may have been, he produced a masterly work.

PEWTER TO THE BROOK.

FROM Mr. Thomas B. Clarke, whose connoisseurship in art is exceptional and embraces Chinese porcelains, paintings and objets d'art in general, The Brook has received a charming collection of eighteenth century pewter. In the gift are two communion flagons of 1769 and marked as of the Associated Congregation, Coldstream. The pieces are an even dozen, several of them bearing the crest of the Duke of Ruthand.

The pieces come from a collection formed by Mr. A. de Navarro, formerly of New York.

LARGE HOPPNER CANVAS.

IN the galleries established in Fifth avenue, New York, this season by Mr. E. M. Hodgkins, of Paris and London, and in charge of his son, Mr. E. C. Hodgkins, is a full length Hoppner, which Mr. Hodgkins recently brought over with him.

The subject of this large canvas is Mrs. Jerningham as Hebe. Hoppner's sitter was Frances Henriette, youngest daughter and co-heiress of Edward Sulyarde, of Haughley Park, Suffolk, and Wetherden, Essex. She married in 1799 George William Jerningham, who succeeded his father as seventh Baronet in 1809 and successfully claimed his title to the dignity of Baron Stafford in 1826. The portrait is 98x83 inches. It was exhibited in the Royal Academy in 1805. Henry Meyer engraved it in stipple.

FINE DOG PICTURE.

"A SMALL REWARD" is one of Mr. Edmund Osthaus' dog pictures, not studio painted dog pictures, but canvases painted from sketches made in the field, Mr. Osthaus always working from life and outdoors amid the hunting dog's natural environment.

This artist's home studio is in Toledo, but he also has a studio in New York and is preparing for an exhibition of his work soon to be held in the Moulton & Richards Galleries.

HOTEL DROUOT SALES.

OBJECTS of art and furnishings at one of the Hotel Drouot sales in Paris brought about 62,000f. ($12,400). There was sold separately a set of three eighteenth century Aubusson tapestries, representing landscapes, with small figures, animals and houses. The largest, on which Mons. Paulme had placed a valuation of 8,000f. ($1,600), was bid up to 12,000f. ($2,400) by an art lover, Mons. Cavadia, in competition with Messrs. Fabre and Ben Simon. Mme. Lefortier bought the second for 6,200f. ($1,240), and the third, to be used as a portiere, was sold to Mons. Lehmann for 2,450f. ($490).

At another Drouot sale, conducted by Messrs Bayle, Paulme and Lasquin, there was disposed of a set of tapestries consisting of four large panels and two portieres, tapisseries verdures avec volatiles, early eighteenth century Flemish work with bordures. The set, sold piece by piece, and acquired by Mons. Fabre and Mons. Vail, brought in the aggregate 20,000f. ($4,180). Two delightful little drawings by Moreau, le jeune, each showing four figures in an interior, were bought for an art lover by Mons. Rahir for 12,100f. ($2,420).

Mons. Molenx, whose gallery in the Boulevard Malesherbes is devoted to exhibitions of the works of modern painters, recently acquired a fine portrait of a woman, a seventeenth century painting, the style of which recalls Peter Lely, to whom it does not seem extravagant to attribute this work. Peter Lely was the great painter of the court of Charles II. He was born at Soest, in Westphalia, and went to England in 1641, where he soon became the favorite portraitist of the leading ladies of the aristocracy. He married in England and died of apoplexy in 1680, at the age of sixty-three, while he was giving a sitting for her portrait to the Duchess of Somerset.

Mons. Alfred Heliot, partner of his brother, Mons. Maurice Heliot, who is head of a large firm importing ceramics and old art objects from China, is at present in Peking, where he has gone on his first visit.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 29.—As a result of cables showing a fair response to the bullish reports about American farm reserves, wheat prices today scored a fresh advance. May started at $1.02⅝ to $1.03⅜, touched $1.03⅝, fell back to $1.02½@1.02⅝, and then rose to $1.03@1.03¼.

Subsequently all the gain was lost. Heavy selling by a leading house caused the break. It developed that an error of twenty million bushels had been made in estimates of the so-called farm reserves. The close was steady with May wheat ½c lower at $1.02⅞.

Scarcity of pit offerings made the corn market firm. May opened at 69¼c to 69½c, reacted to 69⅛@69¼c, and rallied to 69⅝c.

A feature was the relatively strong tone of July. That month worked to a premium over the near option. Closing figures were easy with May corn at 68¾c, a net advance of ⅜c.

Elevator concerns bought oats freely. May started at 52⅜c to 52¾c and ascended to 53c.

Provisions showed weakness owing to a big run of hogs and lower values at the yards. Initial sales were 10c lower to a shade up, with May delivery $15.65 for pork, $9.15 for lard and $8.55 to $8.57½ for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Feb. 29.—Fractional declines were the rule at the opening of today's stock market. Reading was the weakest feature, declining ½ to ⅝, with smaller losses in United States Steel, the Erie, Baltimore & Ohio, Western Union, Interborough-Metropolitan preferred and Virginia-Carolina Chemical. Amalgamated Copper and Union Pacific were up small fractions.

Some recoveries followed the opening dip in prices, but little interest was taken in the market, traders preferring to await developments in the English coal trade situation. A few stocks moved upward in vigorous fashion, including American Telephone and Louisville & Nashville.

Before noon cables from London indicated the probable failure of the coal conference. This and the announcement that several hundred thousand miners had joined the ranks of the proposed strikers produced depression in London's markets, but the news was without effect here beyond giving pause to the traders committed to the long account. Bonds were easy.

Weakness of Reading, which sold at the lowest, caused a general reaction. Standard stocks, however, met support and the undertone was better in the final dealings.

PRIEST STARTS PARISH NURSERY

Mother May Attend Church Without Fear for Her Children.

IDEA WORKING WELL

New York, Feb. 28.—Mgr. Charles A. Cassidy, rector of St. Peter's Catholic church, in New Brighton, Staten Island, noticed for several Sundays past that his church attendance, particularly among the women, had fallen off.

He canvassed the parish and learned that many of the women of his church had small children which they could not leave at home.

The result of his inquiry was the establishment of a nursery where children are cared for while their mothers are in church.

A three-story building on the church property, part of which is used as an annex to the parish school, was renovated during the last week and the furnishings necessary for the care of children were installed. Members of the Holy Family society volunteered to act as emergency nurses and augment the staff of ten which the pastor secured for the youngsters.

Recently sixty children were in the nursery during the morning services, and Mrs. Cassidy announced that the attendance and receipts had taken a big jump.

"There is no excuse" he said from the pulpit, "for any woman of the parish to miss mass in future. Just leave your children at our nursery when you pass into church, and you'll find them perfectly safe and happy when you come out. We've arranged to entertain them, teach them and see to their bodily wants."

Mgr. Cassidy plans to care not only for infants, but for children up to 5 or 6 years of age. Parishioners have arranged with a dairy to have the nursery supplied each week with milk, and a wealthy member of the parish has promised to make the church a gift of several cows in the spring if the nursery proves a success.

MAKES STOMACH TROUBLE VANISH

No Indigestion, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia in Five Minutes.

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and Indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now, you can surely get relief in five minutes. adv.

RECEIVES DOUBLE SHOCK.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 29.—Mrs. Lewis Hoffman received two telegrams in an hour, the first telling her of the death of her brother, and the second informing her that her sister had died. The double shock was more than she could bear and she is prostrated with grief today. Mrs. Hoffman had no warning of either death. Her brother, F. H. Kadel, died from heart trouble in Terre Haute. Early in the afternoon her sister, Mrs. Margaret Fuhr, who had been slightly ill with grip, died. She also lived in Terre Haute.

CHURCH USED FOR DISPLAY.

Many Stay Away Because They Can Not Dress Well, Bishop Says.

Passaic, N. J., Feb. 29.—Bishop Edwin S. Lines, of the Newark diocese of the Episcopal church, addressing a large class of confirmation candidates at St. John's church, dwelt upon the attire of the American church women.

"There is too much extravagance on the part of the American women in the churches," said the bishop. "Many who live just on the edge of poverty, and who would like to come to church, feel bad because of the waste and extravagance which shows them their need.

"Don't speak too bitterly of the flood of socialism. It seems to be the only means of expression against extravagance. There is a Christian socialism, and the question is approaching nearer every day. In one of the largest and most fashionable churches in New York the people stay away because they say they cannot afford to dress like the others. A church like this is not for the glory of God. Let women dress so that no one can feel offended by the display she can not afford. The difference between the church here and the church on the other side is that here the people use the church for display."

UNKNOWN MAKES RESTITUTION.

St. Paul, Ind., Feb. 29.—Mrs. Wm. Lorigan is endeavoring to find who mailed her a letter with $25 in it. The letter came from Greensburg, and contained a note saying the sender had fleeced her father out of the money in years gone by. The conscience-stricken person said he had "acquired religion" and wished to square himself. Mrs. Lorigan's father, Michael Foley, has been dead for fifteen years. The sender of the money asked that the $25 be divided among the heirs. Each will receive $2.
